Port expansion

At a regular Tri-City Regional port District Board meeting Monday, the port board announced that its tenant, Apex Oil Co., has started construction on two additional storage tanks of 4,200,000 gallon each.

This is the second expansion program at the Tri-City Port since Apex Oil took over the liquid terminal operation here in August 1973.

The first phase of expansion was the addition of two storage tanks, which are insulated and heated and have storage capacity of 6,300,000 gallons each. These tanks are in the final stage of completion.

The new expansion will bring the storage capacity for liquid products at the port to approximately 24,000,000 gallons. The line starts at Lake Charles, La., and runs to Houston, Tex.; from Houston to Tulsa, Okla.; and from Tulsa through the Tri-City Port.

From the local port, it runs to Wood River and then to Chicago.

Total tonnage through the port district for the first four months of this fiscal year (July through October) has increased over last year and reached 269,613 tons.

Rail movements through the port also have shown an increase, the officials said.

Thanksgiving services on Sunday night

The annual United Thanksgiving Services sponsored by the Quaker Ministerial Association will be observed at 7 p.m. Sunday at two different locations. It was announced today by the Rev. Ellis H. Dugger, association president.

Host churches this year are the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, and Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave.

The Rev. Carl Eschenbrenner of St. John United Church of Christ will be guest minister at the Downtown Presbyterian church. Captain Ronald Kerley of the Salvation Army will address those attending the Thanksgiving service at Hope Lutheran.

Guest choral groups and soloists will be featured at both churches, the association of ficer said.

The public is invited to attend the seasonal spiritual programs in which an emphasis of "Thanksgiving" will predominate, the Rev. Dugger said.

$16,500 Tree of Lights goal

Steve Bristol, a member of the Bob Barton Realty firm, has been named the 1974 Salvation Army Tree of Lights chairman. It was announced today by Capt. Ronald Kerley and Ralph J. Astorian, chairman of the Salvation Army's advisory board.

Bristol has been serving as vice-chairman of the advisory board for the Salvation Army. He is a member of the Hope Lutheran Church and the Granite City Rotary Club.

Bristol announced the goal for this year's Tree of Lights campaign is $16,500, a $300 increase over the $16,200 raised last year. Last year's quota was $13,500.

The official kick-off for the drive will be held in Civic Park across from the YMCA at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 30. Each light will represent $25 toward the goal.

The Salvation Army's Bell Ringers will take to the streets on Nov. 29 and continue through Dec. 24. Individuals, civic organizations, or Sunday school classes that wish to participate in the program are asked to contact Capt. Kerley at 451-7957.

"There are never too many bell ringers," Capt. Kerley said. "We can use all the help we can get and I would welcome calls from anyone or any group wishing to help us this year."

The money raised by the annual campaign is used to buy food for food baskets, the toy shop, and clothing for needy children at Christmas time.

Granite City Steel will seek an adjudicatory hearing before the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to contest restrictions of a permit allowing the company to continue to discharge pollutants into Horseshoe Lake, it was announced Tuesday.

The state and federal EPAs conducted a joint public hearing Oct. 25 on proposed conditions of the permit. At that time, spokesmen for the company submitted detailed objections to the terms of the permit and requested revisions.

The permit was issued by the U.S. EPA Nov. 12 and Dr. Donald F. Cairns, vice-president of Granite City Steel, received his copy Tuesday.

The permit stipulates that the company has 10 days after receipt of the permit to file a request for an adjudicatory hearing on the permit's restrictions, which expires Friday, Nov. 29. Dr. Cairns said Tuesday that a request for a hearing will be submitted before that date and probably before Thanksgiving.

Cairns noted eight changes were made in the final permit from the tentative permit which was discussed at the public hearing.

He said even the revised permit is "so stringent" that the company would be forced to find other ways of disposing of its wastewater, other than into the lake.

He commented he feels if the company halted its discharge into the lake, the water level would drop seasonally and the general condition of the lake would deteriorate.

Cairns noted that the revisions in the permit still do not make it an acceptable document. He cited an increase in the allowable amount of iron in the water to one milligram per liter of water discharged, and commented that ordinary drinking water has about two milligrams of iron per liter.

"The regulations are so stringent that we would be unable to discharge even drinking water into the lake," he alleged.

He said the company would, at the adjudicatory hearing, attempt to "get the guidelines properly applied," to allow the steel company to continue to operate using Horseshoe Lake.

Other changes in the final permit include elimination of chromium requirements, not applicable to GC Steel; minor adjustments in the allowable levels of solids, sulfate, chloride, zinc, iron, oil and grease, sulfate and ammonia; a slight increase in the allowable suspended solids to 4,101 kilograms per day, and an adjustment in the compliance schedule.

Final plans for facilities to improve the discharged water's quality would have to be submitted to the EPA by Dec. 31, 1974, and the plant construction would have to begin by Feb. 28, 1975, and be completed by July 1976.

Reject cable TV proposal

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A controversial ordinance that would have granted a franchise for installation of cable television in Granite City was defeated by the City Council Monday night by an overwhelming margin.

The ten aldermen attending the council session voted nine to one against the ordinance which was presented for final passage by Alderman Roy Poulos as chairman of the Ordinance Committee. The bill had been placed on first reading in the council's Oct. 29 session.

The proposal, which would have granted a franchise to the City Cablevision Co., headed by Robert Howe, was rejected after discussion in which several aldermen protested that Howe had failed to provide information requested of him during an earlier consideration of the franchise in the Oct. 29 council meeting.

At that time Howe, who also operates the Madison County Cablevision Co., which has installed and is operating cable television in the East Alton-Wood River area, appeared before the council and was asked to provide the aldermen with a list of the company's stockholders and a financial report of the company's net worth. Howe was to have appeared before the council again Monday night, but late Monday afternoon notified City Clerk Robert Stevens that he could not attend the meeting because of illness in his family.

Alderman Walter Norn asked if any council member had received the information concerning the company's stockholders and financial status. The other aldermen said they had not.

Alderman Sam Whitmer repeated his objections that a

Madison development plan

The Madison City Council Monday night approved plans to form a "blue ribbon" Community Development Committee consisting of seven citizens who will work to improve and develop the city's business, civic and economic status.

The seven-member committee, to be named at the next council meeting will represent all aspects of the community such as business, senior citizens, youth, industrial, labor, and civic.

Mayor Mike Sasyk explained the committee's purpose and functions as follows:

"At this time I would like to propose for your approval a plan for community development in the city of Madison. In the past we have discussed the possibility of constructing a shopping center in our city. I am still hopeful that this venture will become a reality. However, to be successful in the shopping center project it will take several years to realize our final goal. Therefore the shopping center project will be part of our long-range community development.

"Tonight, I would like to take a look at a short-range community development project that can be initiated immediately. This project would have goals that could be realized in the near future rather than in the distant future. What I am proposing is that we appoint a seven-man ad hoc committee of local citizens to undertake the project of selecting a central theme, such as the Bicentennial Anniversary of our country, and motivating the business people of our city—especially those on Madison Avenue—to revamp the fronts of their buildings according to the theme selected.

This appointed committee will be primarily responsible for contacting the business owners of our city in an effort to convince them to revise their store fronts; however, we must not forget that we, as city administrators, must actively participate in this project and encourage the business owners to help us develop our community.

"We should also advise the committee of its responsibilities, require that they make periodic progress reports, and offer them any assistance they ask of us. In addition, I feel that we should contact the necessary consultants to help in the planning, designing and developing of this project.

"I am proposing that we undertake this project in spite of the articles and speeches we read and hear warning us of an economic recession, because I feel that if we take a positive attitude toward this project and make an effort to revamp the businesses of our town, we will

21-5 county vote to 'pass through' tax collection cost

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

A proposal for Madison County to recover its actual costs of tax collection by keeping a portion of the taxes slated for each taxing body was approved Wednesday by the Madison County Board on a 21-5 vote after a lengthy discussion.

The proposal was opposed by most taxing bodies. Spokesmen for about a dozen school districts and other public bodies were denied a chance to speak by Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the County Board.

The Alton district superintendent requested permission to address the board and Hagnauer responded, "I'm sorry; we have no one speak from the floor but our board members."

A later attempt by board member James Greene of Wood River to have the superintendent and officials recognized also failed.

Greene asked if the board could vote to suspend the rules and allow the officials to speak. Hagnauer commented, "I've already said no one may speak."

During discussion on the proposal, Rodger Eble of Wood River suggested the board table

Protest 20th-State lights

A petition protesting the installation of a traffic signal light at 20th and State streets because of parking prohibitions required by state highway officials was placed on file by City Council members Monday night after Mayor Paul Schuler said the parking issue is to be negotiated.

Installation of the electric traffic control at 20th and State streets was proposed by state highway officials because of a high accident rate at that location. The state has offered to pay the full cost for the lights and their installation. The Department of Transportation requires, however, that parking be banned for 300 feet in all four directions from the intersection.

An agreement between the city and state that would have authorized the light installation was presented to the City Council two weeks ago, but action was deferred pending further study of the parking prohibition. Mayor Schuler told the council Monday night that a meeting with highway engineers of the district DOT office at Fairview Heights has been arranged to discuss the problem.

The council authorized a call

Plan commission ok's 9 more annexations

The Granite City Plan Commission voted Thursday to recommend that the City Council approve nine requests to annex property into the city. The homeowners requesting annexation are in the area in which a new sewer is to be constructed, financed by bonds which are to be repaid from the sewer fees of the residents. Properties on Gary Avenue recommended for annexation are the lots and houses of Richard Foy, 2344 Gary, Douglas Niles, 2332 Gary, Eugene and Virginia Nichols, 2306 Gary, William and Carol Hopper, 2315 Gary, and Milford and Dorothy Talley, 2250 Gary. Other properties the City Council was to consider for annexation are those of Stanley and Judy Schneider, 2554 Emert Ave., Dr. Frank and Ruth Shipley, 3278 Edgewood Ave., and an adjoining lot owned by the Shipleys, George and Lydia Willard, 2349 Emert Ave., and Abdul and Salda Razaq, 3238 Maryville Road. The City council approved the plan. Commission recommendations in the regular council session Monday night.

Probation for three in thefts from rail cars

A federal judge has granted probation for three former Terminal Railroad Association employees who have pleaded guilty to charges in connection with thefts of items worth about $1.7 million from freight cars. A fourth man was ordered to pay a fine and was released. The four cooperated with the government during its investigation and two of them testified during the trial of 10 men on charges stemming from the thefts.

The other two agreed to testify if called, but their testimony was not necessary during the trial, in which all 10 defendants were convicted. Granted probation were George Timpe, 48, Cahokia, James O'Neill, 30, Hillsboro, Mo., and Ronald D. Ridgeway, 31, Collinsville.

Ridgeway, a key witness during the trial, has completed a 15-month prison term on a separate charge, illegal ammunition sales.

He originally was sentenced to serve three years in prison, but that sentence later was reduced.

Ray Lux, 2803 Michigan Ave., Granite City, was fined $100 and court costs after pleading guilty to receiving a case of stolen whiskey. The government sought a $200 fine, but the judge reduced it "due to the substantial expense in legal fees and penalty of notoriety." Lux already has paid.

It was noted Lux purchased a case of liquor from Vernon Brooks, 2832 E. 25th St., and sold the case to a supervisor at Granite City Steel for the price at which he purchased it, thus not profiting from the transaction. Brooks presently is serving a 10-year prison sentence for illegal sale of firearms.

Births, deaths up, marriages decrease

Births and deaths increased in Madison County during October, but the number of marriages fell slightly below those of the same month a year ago, according to a vital statistics report by County Clerk Eulalia Hotz.

A total of 322 births—174 boys and 148 girls—occurred last month, compared to 304 births—156 boys and 148 girls—during October 1973.

A total of 160 deaths occurred last month, up three from the 157 in October a year ago, while 269 marriages were reported, down eight from the 217 during the same month last year.

Contract with GC school service employees okayed

The Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night approved new contracts with Building Service Employees Local 98 which provide for a 24 cent-per-hour increase for cooks, secretaries and custodian and 34 cent-per-hour increase for five maintenance workers.

The contract is the last to be settled this year between the Board of Education and school district employees. The union membership ratified the contracts during a series of weekend meetings and the school district was officially notified Tuesday that they had been accepted.

During Tuesday night's Board of Education meeting, the board approved the new documents. Adjustments also were made in the salaries of five non-union executive secretaries to keep their salaries in perspective with the union secretaries' salaries.

Student record law observed

SUE will no longer provide information to any non-university person, firm or agency in a manner which identifies a particular student, Dr. John S. Rendleman, SUE president, said Wednesday.

Rendleman implemented interim guidelines the university will follow under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare is responsible for enforcement of the act, expects to have its own guidelines ready next spring.

Meanwhile, Rendleman said, the university will "seek to comply with the act, as best we understand it" as of its national effective date, which was Nov. 19.

Basically the new federal act makes available to currently enrolled students most records maintained by the university which contain data or information pertaining to an identifiable student upon the student's request.

It also requires the university to provide a hearing procedure to permit a student to seek corrections or deletions of data on file which the student feels is inaccurate, misleading or inappropriate. The act forbids release for identifying data from a student's files or records without the student's consent.

Under the SUE guidelines police records, personal notes taken by faculty or staff for their own use, financial reports, employment recommendations made prior to Nov. 19 and employment records of students are interpreted as excluded from the act, and will not be available to students.

Rendleman said SUE will continue to release information about students as ordered by courts or by lawfully-issued subpoenas. In cases of this type, the students will be notified that a valid court order or subpoena has been received and is being honored.

The Bi-State Development Agency board yesterday designated Robert J. Baer, its executive director, to supervise all operating divisions, including the Bi-State Transit System. James E. An Alton area office is planned by Everett G. Steele, Gen. Carbon, elected Nov. 5 as the Republican state representative from the 56th District. Dissatisfaction has been voiced in Alton because it will no longer have a city resident in the legislature after continuous service since 1946 by either Leland Kennedy, Robert Walters or the late Ralph Smith. Steele believes that this district is "so compact that the location of a person's residence is not nearly as important as the determination and effort given to serving the district's needs."

Chrysler at present has a four-month inventory of available new autos.

Chases burglar

A 14-year-old boy told police this week that he saw a boy, age 14 to 17, leave the home of Robert Profit, 2605 Namecki Drive, after a burglary there. The youth said he chased the burglar two blocks north but was unable to catch him.

Police found the rear door of the house was forced open. It was not known if anything was stolen.

Sports boon to losers as well as winners, park athletes told

More than 600 persons gathered in the GCHS South cafeteria Monday evening to honor young athletes of 1974 during the 15th annual Granite City Park District sports award banquet.

Scores of awards in five categories were presented to area teams—baseball, softball, flag football, basketball and tennis—as well as service and appreciation awards to individuals who have contributed time and services in supporting youth programs in this community.

One of the most popular guests was Joe Hoerner, veteran pitcher with the Kansas City Royals, who formerly played with the baseball Cardinals and Atlanta Braves. It was Hoerner's sixth appearance at a local sports award banquet.

A close friend of former Cardinal Dal Maxvill, now with the Oakland Athletics, Hoerner said he was happy to meet the young players from the park district league named in his honor.

"One of these days I suppose they'll find a young kid to replace me," the Royals pitcher said. "On Aug. 27, we thought it could end up in an all-Missouri World Series, but the Cards finished in second place and the Royals in fifth."

Hoerner spoke of the trade made Monday by the Redbirds, who obtained shortstop Eddie Brinkman and a minor league player to be named later from the San Diego Padres for pitchers Eric Rasmussen, Sotny Siebert and Alan Foster. The Padres obtained Brinkman earlier from the Detroit Tigers in the three-club transaction.

"Brinkman is the finest defensive player I have ever seen, next to Dal," Hoerner said.

He urged the youthful guests to "bring home a good report card, take care of your Mom and Dad and make them happy. They do a lot for you."

Starting pitcher Rick Wise, former St. Louis Cardinal who was traded to the Boston Red Sox for Reggie Smith and Ken Tatum, made his second appearance at a GC park district dinner.

Commenting that at one point in the season he thought the Cards and Red Sox would meet in the World Series, Wise said, "It was a frustrating year for me because I was injured."

After the dinner, Wise said his shoulder and arm "feel pretty good now" and that he expects the rest this winter will allow the arm to heal completely. He plans to report to the Red Sox Florida camp in January to begin working out, he added.

"Set a goal for yourself, but play now for pure fun of the game," Wise told the youngsters. "We are professional athletes and we want to win. But on an amateur level, just play for the fun of it."

Infielder Ron Hunt, obtained by the baseball Cardinals from Montreal last season, said, "I was just like you fellows when I heard Kenny Boyer speak at a dinner."

"I started playing ball when I was eight years old and went through Khoury League, Legion and high school ball."

"A couple of colleges were interested in me for football and baseball. After looking it over, I thought the football players were too big."

Hunt said he was signed by the Milwaukee Braves organization and was sent to a farm team. He went to the New York Mets in 1963, and referred to his association with colorful Mets Manager Casey Stengel as "confusing at times."

"The Cards got me for the 1974 pennant drive, but as you know, we came in second. So, I don't know what will happen to me now," Hunt commented.

Greg Hartle, rookie football Cardinal linebacker who realized a defensive lineman's dream by intercepting a Philadelphia pass in Sunday's 13-3 triumph over the Eagles, said he still has the football. "It may not mean much to anyone else, but it does to me."

"You can't wait until you are a senior in high school to start working toward a career in athletics. Now is the time," he stressed to the youngsters.

Noting that he was a product of a small college in his home town (South Carolina College), Hartle said, "Luck plays a part in your life. I did for me."

"I happened to be the biggest linebacker on the squad, so the scouts noticed me."

Communication is important, he stressed. If you can communicate with the people you associate with, you can do anything and come through in the clutch.

"I can't tell you why we (Cards) are up there this year, but we have good coaching and there is a close relationship between the ball players. You can't pinpoint it, but it is there."

"Football is not only the game you see on Sunday at the stadium or on television," Hartle said, "but it is there."

"It goes on all week."

He reviewed procedures followed by pro teams leading up to Sunday games—from lifting weights to viewing game films and learning fundamental plays of the opposing squad.

Park Commissioners Robert Patrick and Jake Hinterser presented service awards to Jim Cox, Norm Grote, Ron Simpson, Mike Loftus and Jim Riestler for their support of and participation in community sports programs.

The annual Appreciation Award was described by Barry Loman, park district vice-president, as "honoring an organization which sponsors many teams in community youth activities and for its contribution to the Granite City Park District."

Accepting the engraved silver bowl in behalf of Mercer Mortuary was Frank Mercer.

A similar engraved silver bowl was presented to Robert Thomas Jr., in recognition of the efforts of his late father, Robert G. Thomas Sr., former coroner and deputy coroner associated with Mercer Mortuary.

Loman, in making the presentation, told the recipient, "Your father contributed a lot to this community and through his efforts Mercer Mortuary supported many team accomplishments."

"We feel all of you are outstanding," commented Park President Henry Gabriel. "As time goes on we hope to be able to honor each and everyone of you," he told the gathering.

Sports Announcer Ron Jacober said, "I think it is important for you to stop and think, for awhile, what sports can mean to a young man—or a young lady."

"The glory of victory can be sweet, but the agony of defeat can teach us a lot."

Jacober gave as an example a North Dakota athlete, Cliff Kushman, who in 1960 placed second in the 400-meter hurdles event in the Olympics at Rome and failed to do that well in 1964 although favored to win.

"During preliminary trials of the Tokyo Olympics," said Jacober, "he was out in front of everyone. But he stumbled on a hurdle and was disqualified when he fell."

Kushman later enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and lost his life in Vietnam when his aircraft was shot down.

"He had trained harder than ever before," the speaker continued, "in his determination for a gold medal."

"The day he fell, Kushman wrote an open letter to the youths of his home town which was published in a newspaper there. It read in part:

"Last Saturday, you watched me fall to the track in a heap of bruised muscle, and skinned knees and with a hurt pride."

"In a split second my years of training, of pain, and of sweat were all for nothing."

"But, please don't let my disappointment discourage you from trying."

"Each of you are in an Olympic tryout of sorts, every day, whether it's in high school football or other forms of sports. But whatever you do, aim high."

"We rejoice in our suffering, knowing that suffering produces endurance, endurance produces character, character produces hope, and hope does not disappoint us."

"So, young men and young women, make that extra effort to excel."

"I dare you to be clean. I dare you to honor your mother and father. I dare you to go to church. I dare you to aim high and pick yourself up when you fall down."

"There is still plenty of room at the top of the ladder, but there is no room on the ladder to sit," the letter concluded.

"The athletic field in North Dakota was named for a man who lost," added Jacober, "but the way Cliff Kushman got up after falling made him a victor."

"That is the kind of person and kind of attitude that sports can develop in an athlete."

ALL FOR THE YOUNG. Athletes of 1974 Granite City Park District programs gather around their favorite stars Monday evening, awaiting autographs. Signing pieces of paper, cardboard and anything else the youthful athletes could find are (seated) Greg Hartle, far left, of the football Cardinals, Ron Hunt of the baseball Cardinals and, in foreground, Ron Jacober of KSD-TV.

AUTOGRAPHED BASKETBALLS, baseballs and footballs were given to many of the young athletes attending Monday's Granite City Park District banquet. Accepting a basketball from Ron Hunt of the St. Louis baseball Cardinals is Gary Moody. At far left are Jack Dempsey, president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler (partially visible behind ball).

FORMER HONOREE. Among the more than 600 persons attending the 15th annual Granite City Park District sports award banquet Monday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Lillian) Baumeier, who were celebrating their 47th wedding anniversary. Baumeier, a former park commissioner, was the 1973 recipient of an appreciation award.

HERE ARE SOME IDEAS

As a general rule, don't let a chair stand by itself in a corner. It can look forlorn that way. You can dress up a corner if you add per-haps a small table and lamp by the chair, or at least a picture or some other decoration in that corner.

One of the most useful pieces of furniture that's missing from many homes is a tea wagon. It can serve so many purposes for not only serving, but also for a nice place to keep things.

Should you buy a carpet with or without a pattern? One rule to keep in mind is that the absence of a pattern on a carpet will give a feeling of more spaciousness in the room; on the other hand, a pattern will help relieve the monotony of space and pep up a room that's too bland.

Here's a little trick that can add sparkle and variety to your home. Change your accessories with the seasons. Use some different accessories around the house in the fall and winter than you did in the spring and summer.

If you'd like to see lots of furniture ideas, you're welcome to come in and browse here—with no pressure and no obligation. And if you have a particular furnishing problem, we'll be happy to discuss it with you. We're at your service.

Franklin Union carries wide variety of home furnishings that can make your home a very special place to enjoy life.

Trend to 'democracy' in business decisions

Successful experiments with organization and management in industry are leading to "an end to the grey flannel suit mentality," according to Gareth S. Gardiner, associate professor of business at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Gardiner was the principal speaker during the weekend at the third session of the 1977 University Seminar at Edwardsville (USE).

Representing the SIUE School of Business, Gardiner talked on the subject, "Conformity. Complexity and Goodbye to The Grey Flannel Suit." He was assisted by Martha Harbaugh of St. Louis, the presidential scholar representing the School of Business.

Gardiner cited experiments where executives and supervisors are trained in "democratic decision-making." They are trained to solicit the views of their employees on every conceivable topic to encourage and facilitate free discussion of ideas in group meetings, and to explore even unlikely possibilities for growth or change.

"The impressive success of these initial experiments apparently foreshadows the end of the grey flannel suit, and the beginning of an era where complex, creative functioning will be valued—and adaptive and personal development and self-actualization will be a frequent outcome of employment," the speaker said.

"Such a situation would be all but revolutionary in a society where work has become a dirty word," he added.

According to Gardiner, the SIUE School of Business is a leader in developing programs oriented toward "participative management, where employees from all levels of the firm are directly involved in the decision-making process."

One of the School's undergraduate programs is the Management Problem Laboratory, which Gardiner describes as being "explicitly designed to raise the level of complexity of participating students."

In the program, lecture time in the various courses is cut back by one-third in order to free time for the students to engage in a problem-solving laboratory.

Comprehensive data banks describing real businesses in this metropolitan area have been assembled in the SIUE laboratory, and students are encouraged to ask factual and specific questions regarding the particular business they are studying.

Gardiner explains his "complexity" theory by pointing out that people generally are either "complex" or "simplistic" in their thinking.

"Persons who think complexly have learned to organize a large amount of information into a relatively large number of concepts in the process of problem-solving, while simplistic persons use little information in their thinking and form few concepts on the basis of the information they have," he said.

Gardiner pointed to another School of Business program as "highly innovative." The off-campus graduate program in business administration offers a complete master of business administration degree at 14 locations around the country, including 12 military installations.

In the program, students meet an instructor every third weekend for an intensive three-week seminar, but study on their own in study teams three weeks prior to the seminar.

"While the teaching format in this program is fairly conventional, the fact that students learn to work together on problems and assignments over long periods of time consistently produces a high degree of self-reliance and initiative among graduating students and has a positive effect on complex thinking," Gardiner said.

The speaker said "complexity of thinking" is encouraged because it produces desirable changes in personality.

"Well over 100 different studies have shown that persons who are complex in their thinking are highly adaptive and creative problem-solvers who thrive on challenging environments, while simplistic thinkers are disrupted and frightened by such environments," Gardiner said.

"When faced with a high degree of pressure, the complex thinker continues to function well while the simplistic thinker shows symptoms of severe anxiety."

Continuing, Gardiner said, "The habitually complex thinker usually possesses a number of additional personality traits: He is democratic in his character, his structure and not authoritarian. He demonstrates a high degree of empathy in interpersonal relationships."

"He tends not to be prejudiced. He is strongly resistant to conformity pressure. And he usually has a well-developed sense of personal worth, although he is more uncertain about decision-making than the simplistic thinker."

"His beliefs and values tend to be more moderate and more flexible than those of the simplistic thinker, whose values are extreme and strongly held, but who is more susceptible to social brainwashing."

Discussing the field of culture and ethnic identity, Gardiner said that "America has a cultural schism of the first order. On the one hand, we have the dominant white society which is largely suburban, affluent middle class and deeply imbued with materialistic values, while on the other hand is the black defiant subculture, which is inner-city, poor and hostile toward the dominant class."

The speaker added that "the conformity ethic has been a major factor in the continuing unattractiveness of business to blacks. The enterprising black not only must adopt a fairly unhealthy set of values in the same way that whites do, he must also risk rejection from peers in the black community who are quick to label him a 'Tom' for accepting a position in business."

Miss Harbaugh discussed "conformity problems" in detail.

She cited research which shows that "a rather large proportion of people are willing to do what they are told despite possible consequences—if they accept the direction to do so as coming from a legitimate source of authority."

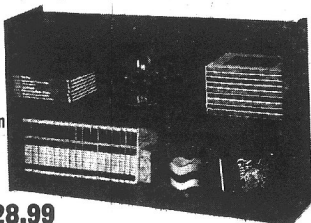

The USE sessions are being held in the Lovejoy Library auditorium on the SIUE campus. They are free of charge and open to the public. The general USE topic for the year is "Ethnic Identity and Cultural Integrity." The next session, scheduled for Dec. 6, will feature representatives of the School of Fine Arts.

Liquidation of Israel is goal

(Near East Report)
PLO Leader Yasser Arafat, who addressed the UN General Assembly, has been trying to transform his image from gun-wielding terrorist to moderate spokesman of the Palestinians.

His advisers, including Egyptian President Sadat, have been counseling him to sound a less militant tone in order to win over public opinion. But deceptive euphemisms notwithstanding, Arafat is still firmly committed to the destruction of Israel.

In an interview with the New York Times, Arafat declared that he will soon form a provisional government-in-exile as a first step toward establishing PLO sovereignty over the West Bank and Gaza.

This mini-state, he insisted, would become the "Nucleus" for a much larger Palestinian state, encompassing all of Israel. As Israel's Foreign Minister Arafat pointed out, Arafat does not even attempt to conceal his overall objectives.

Arafat stated in a letter to the Jordanian Capital Student Congress in Baghdad: "Jordan is ours; Palestine is ours; and we shall build our national entity on the whole of this land after having freed it of both the Zionist presence and the reactionary-traitor presence."

Why is everything being asked of the Palestinians? Arafat replied when asked whether any basis could be established for a peaceful border between a future Palestinian state and Israel. "Why is it always that the Palestinian side has to always make concessions? Why? We have to ask why?"

This evasive response flows from his dilemma: although he must now appear moderate, he would be denounced as an appeaser and removed by his followers if he withdrew his claim over "all of Palestine."

It is this dilemma which makes it difficult for Arafat to proceed with the establishment of a government-in-exile, since he would have to delimit the territory the PLO presumes to represent and hopes to govern.

Although some states might agree to recognize his "government," even if it calls for the elimination of Israel, Arafat suspects that Western Europe, the United States and other countries—probably even the Soviet Union—would not support Israel's total destruction, and the PLO's mission would be discredited.

Thus Arafat wants to divert attention from the decision that he himself must make, and seeks to reverse the pressures by demanding that Israel take the initiative.

But his refusal to commit himself to peaceful coexistence should clarify the issue for those who brand Israel the intransigent obstacle to negotiations.

Why should Israel seek to appease those who wish to destroy her? Certainly no one expects a sovereign country to collaborate in its own liquidation.

Israel has always been ready to make peace, but none of the Arab states have ever been willing to sit down with her face-to-face.

Unless Israel is assured that the Arab states are ready to end their belligerence and blockade, she cannot afford to weaken her defenses.

Although Sadat is anxious to regain more of Sinai, he is still not ready to make any kind of political concession.

Prime Minister Rabin indicated to the Knesset that Israel is more concerned with gaining the practical benefits of non-belligerence with Egypt than with a formal declaration—a signal to Sadat that Israel remains flexible.

"If we reach an agreement on the contents," he declared, "we shall have no difficulty in finding the appropriate juridical definitions."

Kissinger returned to Washington from the Middle East believing that Egypt may yet be ready to negotiate another interim agreement with Israel.

But the all-important question remains: Will the Soviets and the extremist Arabs—Syria, Iraq, Libya, the PLO—allow Sadat to continue Kissinger's step-by-step approach, or will they force him to wait until the Geneva conference is reconvened in order to allow the Soviets to share the date?

The Secretary will probably return to the Middle East next month—his ninth trip since the October war—in order to find the answer.

When Kissinger arrived in Jerusalem, Israel's leaders expressed their concern about ambiguous statements issued in Washington.

Kissinger publicly stated that U.S. policy has not changed, and he is believed to have privately assured the Israelis that the United States will not pressure them to negotiate with the PLO.

It would be in the interest of Middle East peace if the United States now dispelled the propaganda fraud and made it clear the PLO is fundamentally committed to Israel's destruction.

WARRIOR CAGERS likely to fill starting positions on the Granite City High School South basketball squad are, from left: David Naglich, 6-3 senior; Ken Bertrand, 6-5 senior; Jim Nolen, 6-6 junior; Rick Fancher, 6-3 junior; and Bob Hutchings, 6-2 senior. GCHS South will open its 1974-75 season at home against Madison High School on Nov. 26.

Cage Warriors plan a double pivot offense

Bryan Wilkinson, basketball mentor at Granite City High School South, feels his team benefited from its 122 season record of last year and now "the boys are anxious to get started. I think they are ready to win some games."

We are a much improved ball club," said Wilkinson. "Our attitudes appear to be good and the team has been showing the hustle and togetherness that produces a winner."

Since Mike Martinez has graduated, the Warrior squad will not resolve its attack around any one player. The entire starting lineup has gained much-needed experience.

Martinez was the only extensively experienced player on the 1973 squad and provided much of the scoring. Likely to start for South on the school's home court against Madison High School, next Tuesday are: David Naglich, 6-3 senior forward; Ken Bertrand, 6-5 senior center who last year tallied 199 points; Jim Nolen, 6-6 junior forward, who had 35 points; Rick Fancher, 6-3 junior guard, who had 53 points; and Bob Hutchings, 6-2 senior guard, who chalked up 105 points last season. All are one-year lettermen.

Although 6-3 senior forward Tom Schooley will miss the first few games of the new season due to a non-school activity injury, he is expected to again be an asset to the squad upon his return. Last season, he tallied 128 points for the Warriors.

"We hope to draw opposing guards inside," says Wilkinson. "The coach believes this 'should improve our rebounding and ability to take long shots.'"

Conceding that the squad lacks quickness and speed, Wilkinson feels the team still will be capable of providing either a zone or man-to-man defense with little difficulty.

GCHS South has made a major change in its schedule. The coach believes this "should improve our rebounding and ability to take long shots."

The Warriors have replaced the Pontiac tournament with the Edwardsville holiday classic and rescheduled cross-town rival GCHS North for mid-season.

North was the only school to bow to South last year, 65-43 in overtime, in a season-ending contest.

"We provided some close scores in a few of last year's contests," recalls Wilkinson, "some of which probably would have turned the year around for us if we had won."

Soccer Cougars in regional meet

The high-flying SIUE soccer team, for the sixth straight year, has again qualified for post-season National Collegiate Athletic Association midwest regional tournament competition.

Coach Bob Guelker's kickers, ranked No. 3 in the nation and No. 1 in the Midwest region, will play a tough Indiana University team Saturday at Cougar Field. Kickoff time is 2 p.m.

Ranked No. 2 in the Midwest is the Cougars' arch-rival, St. Louis University. The bills will play Cleveland State University this weekend. The bills, after their 1-0 loss to the Cougars at Busch Stadium Nov. 8, are 15-2-1 for the season.

Second suspect in burglary

Granite City police are holding a second suspect in connection with Monday's early morning break-in at Key Retail Drug Store, 6 Gaslight Plaza, Ponton Beach.

Kevin Michael Riggs, 18, of 2629 Lindell Blvd., surrendered himself to authorities at 8:25 p.m. yesterday and was charged with burglary.

At 1:40 a.m. Monday, Ponton Beach police responded to a burglar alarm at the store and arrested Steve Kvar, 22, of 2113 Manley Ave., when they allegedly discovered him hiding behind a pharmacy counter.

Riggs is being held at Granite City jail pending court action.

Five hundred cartons of cigarettes, valued at $2,750, were stolen from an Interstate United Co. panel truck at the Wagon Wheel Tavern in Eagle Park Acres, it was reported yesterday.

Gary Butovich, the driver, said he stopped at the tavern at 10 a.m. to service a cigarette vending machine and when he returned to his truck about 10 minutes later, he found the rear door open and the cigarettes missing.

Arrest 3, file drug charges

Randall K. Meyer, 19, of 325 English Place, Mitchell, and Gary L. Bilna, 21, of 2328 Waterman Ave., were charged with unlawful possession of cannabis, and Roberta Lee Jackson, 20, of 2248 Bern Ave., was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance and cannabis after police searched their auto at Washington and Niedringhaus avenues at 3:35 p.m. yesterday.

Police said they approached the parked car and it appeared a passenger ate a cigarette he was smoking. The three were ordered from the auto and a plastic bag containing what police believe is marijuana was found in the front seat.

Several "white crosses" (amphetamines) and other pills were found inside a purse, police said.

Tax hike opposed

Illinois State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon said last night that his financial records show no need for a taxation increase in Illinois. However, the potential $200 million surplus in an $8.1 billion state budget should be conserved, barring any tax relief at this time, he said. The gross national product has not been growing for three fiscal quarters, he noted.

Dixon addressed the second of four 1974-75 dinner meetings of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association Southern Division, held at the Missouri Athletic Club. Many Quad-City in-

Furnace start is readied at GC Steel

Granite City Steel was preparing today for "blowing in" the newly relined "A" blast furnace, but officials cautioned that they still are watching developments in the nationwide coal strike.

While the company still was planning today to start the furnace during the weekend, a spokesman said, "We are still looking at our hand and may change that decision if the coal strike situation should deteriorate."

If the furnace is reactivated, it will mean the call-back of employees laid off in late September when the furnace was shut down for relining, a company spokesman said.

BURGLARY ON ANGELA

A $450 stereo system and a camera were stolen from the home of Martha Weiss, 2605 Angela Drive, during the weekend. The homeowner returned home to find the rear door standing open. A window in the rear door was broken to gain entry. A rear bedroom, the living room and the kitchen were ransacked.

The latter's late wife, Mrs. Dorothy Pershall Belz, donated land for the office center.

It was noted that a record 293 JA companies are operating this year as a means of instilling understanding of free enterprise in boys and girls of high school age.

for bids for installation of a traffic signal on Nameoki Road at Lindell Boulevard to aid the traffic flow to and from the Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Half of the cost will be paid by the shopping center interests under a plan similar to that providing for installation of another traffic signal at Nameoki Road and Manly Avenue to serve the Crossroads Plaza shopping center. The council received during the meeting a check from Golden & Co., developers of Crossroads Plaza, in the amount of $10,222 as the developer's share of the traffic light installation at Manly Avenue.

The motion by Alderman Everett Morlen to call bids for the signal light at Lindell Boulevard was approved, although several aldermen protested immediate action in the matter. Alderman Sam Whitmer suggested that the Lindell Boulevard project be delayed "until we see how the light at Manly Avenue works out."

Alderman Walter Nann commented that "if we put any more lights out there, no one will be able to get through."

An effort to obtain final passage of an ordinance establishing a 20-mile-per-hour speed limit on Maryville Road between Morrison Road and Route 203 failed by two votes, but the ordinance then was placed on first reading to be presented again at the council meeting Monday night.

The ordinance was presented by Alderman Roy Poulos as chairman of the Ordinance Committee. He moved for suspension of the rules to place the bill on final passage. A suspension of the rules requires a minimum of ten council votes.

Alderman Walter Nann contended the speed limit measure was illegal without advance approval of the state Department of Transportation. City Attorney George Filcoff said he did not believe such approval was necessary.

A roll call vote on the rules suspension was eight in favor and two against, with one council member absent. Since a minimum vote of ten was required, the motion was lost.

A motion by Poulos that the bill be placed on first reading was approved. In other traffic control actions, the council approved an ordinance establishing a three-way traffic stop at Charles and 25th streets. The law requires north and southbound traffic on Charles Street to stop at 25th Street, and eastbound traffic on 25th Street to stop before entering Charles Street.

Also enacted was an ordinance prohibiting parking in three locations. These include the north side of 27th Street westerly for 30 feet from the corner of 27th and State streets; the east side of Ralph Avenue easterly for 35 feet from the corner of Faith Avenue and Nameoki Road.

The 10-vote requirement for suspension of the rules for final passage also defeated an ordinance that would have required inspection of taxi cabs on a semi-annual basis by the Chief of Police or his representative.

The ordinance would have amended a 1960 taxicab control ordinance and would have required inspection for proper brakes, lights, tires, horn, muffler, rearview mirror and windshield wipers. It also would have required lettering and numbering of each cab in letters visible for 20 feet.

A motion to suspend the rules for final passage received a 9 to 1 vote with Poulos casting the negative vote.

Proposal for after-school bus service given board

A request for bus transportation to be provided by the Granite City School district for students who participate in after-school activities was presented to the board of education Tuesday night by Jack Moad.

Moad, whose 13-year-old son died after being struck by an auto on Rock Road following basketball practice shortly before 6 p.m. on Nov. 4, appealed to the board to investigate the possibility of a bus service as a safety precaution for junior high school students.

I ask the board to give consideration to this request on behalf of the junior high students, as they live the longest distance from schools to which they are assigned than most other students in the school system. After practice or games in various sports, it is usually dark," Moad said.

Moad who had petitions signed by 3,000 people in the area, also asked permission of the board to take more petitions to schools so that students may secure more signatures from adult residents.

The board agreed to allow him to visit the schools with the consent of the building principal at a convenient time to contact the students. The petitions relate to bus transportation for pupils engaged in after-school activities only, at a junior high school level.

Board members agreed to conduct a survey to establish the need for such a project, but also voiced concern that the additional cost of creating another bus service would be rejected by the taxpayers.

L. Monroe Worthen asked if the junior high school students were transported home by bus after sporting events and practice, would this not open the door to a request for transportation for elementary school pupils who also engage in after-school activities.

Board president Donald Stucke said, "If the bus service is initiated, I wonder if student spectators should not be given the opportunity to use the transportation, since they also stay after school for the events."

Moad suggested the board collect data on the purchase of buses to be operated and maintained by the board of education, and if the cost possibly could be less than that of the present system.

Program proves satisfactory

Progress in the Venice School District's new Title VII program apparently proved satisfactory to evaluators who visited the district last week, Venice Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers informed the Board of Education at Monday night's meeting.

The federally funded program, instituted in the Venice School System in September, involves raising student levels in reading and mathematics and improving communications and interpersonal relationships among the staff, students and the community, Vickers explained.

Representatives from the Chicago office of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the state Office of Public Instruction reviewed classroom procedures, instructional materials and other aspects of the program.

provision of the franchise agreement would give the city only 3 per cent of the company's income from subscribers' fees was insufficient. Howe had told the council that the city's share of income is limited to 3 per cent by order of the Federal Communications Commission.

"This means that if the company had an income of $100,000 from users fees, the city would get only $3,000," Howe said, adding that "this is an insignificant amount."

The cable television franchise provision was presented this early this year. Last March a franchise ordinance submitted by the city was held up for 10 changes proposed by council members.

Whitmer said Monday night that he could find only three of the changes in the new franchise ordinance placed on first reading Oct. 29.

"We don't need this system since we are so close to St. Louis," Whitmer said. "We already can get almost anything we need," he commented.

Alderman Ronald Coleman noted that there "are a number of unanswered questions." He referred to Nann's request for the list of stockholders and financial statement and said, "If he (Howe) can't provide this in two weeks, then he is not likely to respond. Howe is an employee of a radio station and as far as I can determine has no definite place of business."

On a roll call vote on the motion for final passage, Alderman Frank Greenwood, who a few minutes earlier had said he didn't know how to vote on the issue because of the highly technical nature of the system, cast the only affirmative vote for passage of the ordinance.

Those voting against the agreement were Aldermen Nann, Whitmer, Poulos, Coleman, William Dallas, Emerald Dawes, Claude Green, Everett Morlen and Steve Basarich. Aldermen R. E. Robertson, Clyde Boyd, Earl Baker and Gerald Parmley were absent.

the program, the administrator said.

The visiting officials were unable to sit at the present time if funds will be available after June 30, 1975, to continue the program, Vickers reported. In other action, board members approved use of the Venice gymnasium by the Venice Police Department for recreational and physical fitness activities; and accepted a proposal from the Quad-City Roofing Co. to make repairs to the Venice Grade School building.

Purchase requisitions approved. Included $508 for books and materials for Title VII program, and a $60 tape-recorder from Schiller Co., St. Louis, for use by the Training Mentally Handicapped (TMH) class.

A total of $30,748 received from 1974 tax payments was transferred to the educational fund by resolution and the sum of $208 was transferred from Title II to the same fund.

County's employee health insurance goes to Blue Cross on 14-11 vote

The Madison County Board yesterday voted to accept a group health insurance policy from Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Rockford, despite objections from nearly half of the board members that a policy from Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. would provide "exactly identical" coverage and save the county about $42,000 per year. The Blue Cross bid accepted by the board costs $21.88 per month for each of the county's nearly 650 full-time employees. A Metropolitan proposal gave the same benefits except for a slight change in pregnancy benefits, it was alleged. Metropolitan proposed the coverage for $13.93 per month for each employee.

The county agreed in negotiations with unions for the employees to make available up to $26 per employee for insurance, including the county's administrative costs involved in the program.

Thirteen companies bid to provide the insurance. The county hired James Almeter, an Alton attorney who specializes in insurance matters, to review the bids.

Alder ruled the Metropolitan bid did not meet specifications. He suggested acceptance of the Blue Cross bid.

The specifications told insurance companies, "If, however, you cannot qualify under the entire list of specifications, feel free to submit alternative plans for those areas."

Supporters of the bid from Metropolitan contended Almeter should not have rejected the offer as being "not to specifications."

After the County Board's Central Services Committee recommended the Blue Cross bid, representatives from Metropolitan requested a meeting.

They met with committee members Tuesday evening and said they guaranteed that their policy provided the exact coverages except for maternity benefits.

They emphasized the county could save $95.52 per employee per year by accepting the lower contract.

Rodger Eble of Wood River, a member of the County Board, asked the board to authorize the finance committee to study the two bids and accept the one which it felt was the best buy. He said the decision could not await the next county board meeting, since the insurance was to become effective Dec. 1.

J. J. Gramlich, chairman of the finance unit, said he did not feel Metropolitan had submitted its specific proposal until after the Blue Cross proposal had been considered.

Other board members contended Metropolitan had submitted a firm price during the initial bidding, even if the complete policy had not been prepared.

Some members feared a breach of the contract with the unions if they failed to begin coverage Dec. 1, as agreed. The Blue Cross bid was accepted on a 14 to 11 vote.

Service for translating, interpreting

A translating and interpreting service is being offered to the public by the St. Louis University Department of Modern Languages and the University Chapter of Sigma Xi, a national Spanish honorary society.

Translators and interpreters are available to speak and write in numerous languages, including Spanish, French, German, Portuguese, Hebrew, Chinese, Italian, Persian, Armenian and Thai.

Dr. Robert D. Herron, chairman of the department, said it frequently receives calls from businessmen, travel agents and others requesting the services of teachers or students fluent in foreign languages.

"There seemed to be such a need for translating and interpreting that we decided to start a clearinghouse here," he said.

Persons in need of a translator or interpreter, or those wishing to offer their services as one, may call the modern languages department, (314) 555-3300, station 508, for information.

DAR donates to school

Thirteen members of the Trussville Andrews Chapter of the DAR met in the home of Miss Nelle Hart during the weekend. Regent Ruth McCarty was in charge of the meeting. The president general's message was read by Mrs. Eva Meier and Miss Ella Ray Smith was in charge of the National Defense topics.

The program was presented by Mrs. Ruth Mitchell who chose as her topic for discussion the various schools supported by the DAR. As a result of the information she presented, the group voted to make a sizeable contribution to Tamassee, a boarding school located in the mountains of North Carolina. The funds will be used in renovating the Illinois Cottage.

Correspondence was read from several members who live away from this area giving their new addresses and inviting the group to meet in outstate Missouri.

Pictures and prices of new DAR insignia were presented and three members placed orders for the Bicentennial pin. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Bell.

Persons who are interested in the DAR may learn of the membership requirements by contacting the regent, Mrs. McCarty, at 931-0037, or Mrs. Emma Schoen, registrar, at 931-1248.

Others present were Mrs. Helen Gantcheff, Mrs. Mamie Frohardt, Mrs. Janet Wilson, Mrs. Jane Ann Vansier, Mrs. Barbara Williams and Mrs. Mildred Whyers.

Several Willow Walk cats won honors in the 33rd annual Greater St. Louis Cat Show held in the auditorium at Northwest Plaza, St. Louis County.

Close to 300 cats competed in four separate rings, with short-haired and long-haired animals being judged on different days.

Mrs. David D. Taylor of Willow Walk Cattery, 148 Central Ave., Mitchell, entered four Persian cats and attained first place awards. Three other animals bred at the local cattery also won blue ribbons.

The winning Persian cats were Champion Willow Walk Wilma Deanne, a blue-cream female, which received "Winner" and "Best of Color" in all four shows; and Willow Walk Smokippy, a smoke neuter, received the same top honors in all four shows.

Willie Walk Willie Boy, a cream Persian, placed first in two shows and second in the other two; and Willow Walk Smokaty, a smoke-colored female, placed third.

Alexander Jerome, a large 19-pound brown tabby neuter, bred at the Mitchell cattery and owned by Ellen McCloskey of St. Louis, won first and "Best of Color" in four shows, Mrs. Taylor said.

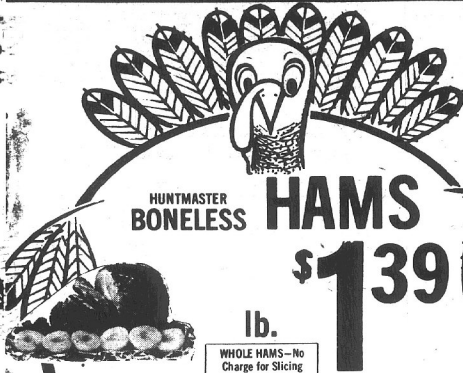

Mrs. Claudia Klob of High Ridge, Mo., won awards with two Willow Walk-bred cats—Tabby Tabu Brown, a brown tabby, which received "Winner," and second places in "Best of Color" and "Best of Breed" in four shows; and Big Bezo, a shaded cameo kitten, which placed first and "Best of Color" in the four shows.

On the final day of competition an overflow crowd attended the cat show, while arriving spectators admitted to the auditorium in limited numbers as others left the building, Mrs. Taylor said.

New plea for station permit

A new petition for a special use permit that would clear the way for construction of a new Granite City fire station at Johnson Road and Richmond Avenue was approved by the City Council Monday night and referred to the City Plan Commission for a public hearing.

The action resulted in cancellation of a special Plan Commission meeting that had been called for 1:15 p.m. today to further consider the city's original petition for an M-2 (industrial) zoning classification.

The Plan Commission delayed a ruling on the city's original petition during its Nov. 14 meeting after legal technicalities arose over a change from the M-2 zoning change to a request for a use permit.

Under the council's action Monday night, the petition will go through regular channels and will be considered by the Plan Commission in its regular Dec. 12 session.

The council approved a recommendation of the Plan Commission to rezone to an industrial classification 22 acres of land north of the Archer Daniels Midland Co. soybean processing plant. The land was acquired by ADM subject to rezoning from its original residential classification. There are no plans for immediate development of the site, officials said.

Council members also concurred in a Plan Commission recommendation to reject the petition of Gus Koesterer for a C-1 (commercial) classification for construction of an office building. Plan Commission members voted six in favor and one against approval of the petition, but the vote was insufficient to approve the request.

Two additional petitions for annexation to the city were received by the council and were referred for a recommendation to the Plan Commission. The petitions were submitted by Richard E. and Robbie Fry, 2344 Gary Ave., and Douglas R. and Patricia A. Niles, 2332 Gary Ave.

Aaron Pierson of the M. W. Engineers and Architects, St.

Louis, engineers for the Granite City secondary sewage treatment plant, spoke briefly to the council on progress at the plant site on the Granite City Army Installation grounds. He distributed copies of the October issue of Construction Digest, a national contractors' trade magazine, which featured a picture of the plant construction on its cover and printed a four-page story and pictures concerning the project.

Work started on Pocket Park

Work has been started on the first pocket park in the downtown area by members of the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society in an effort to beautify the area within the organization's boundaries.

The organization leased a vacant lot in the 2200 block of Cleveland Blvd., next door to Umberline Furniture Co., and has begun work to clear the property.

According to Rich Pilch, a member of the club, concrete steps and sidewalks which surrounded the house that has been torn down have been removed with dead trees and other debris.

Future plans for the small park will include sowing grass seed, planting trees, flowers and bushes and to install park benches. The parks will not have playground equipment, but are designed for a play area for children and to improve the residential area.

Donations of any garden supplies for use at the park are being collected by Rich Pilch at 877-3207 or by calling Mrs. Gail Hug at 876-1327.

Johnson PTA hears nurse

Miss Nancy Pinny, a nurse at St. Elizabeth Hospital, spoke on the Mr. Yuk, Poison Control Center at the hospital at a meeting last week of Johnson School PTA.

Program chairman Mrs. Val Novosel introduced the speaker who noted the local center is the only one in the area. Boy Scouts sponsored by the PTA unit gave both the opening and closing ceremony. Robert Burns, a teacher at the school, presented the scout charter to Paul Lingle, scoutmaster.

Mrs. Katie Wilson, unit president, reported students had sales of $5,000 during the candy sale. Mrs. Pat Howard, chairman of the sweatshirt sale, announced the project was successful.

Other reports were submitted by Mrs. Helen Schmittour and Mrs. Margie Love. Mrs. Pam Ames, hospitality chairman, awarded the attendance banner to Robert Burns, middle intermediate class, for the largest number of parents present.

Epsilon Eta aids children

Members of Epsilon Eta gathered last week at the Namoki Recreation Center for a demonstration on yuletide and ornament decorations, presented by a representative of the Lee Ward Co.

After the program the group met in the home of Carol Kessler for a business session and dessert luncheon.

Fortcoming projects of the members will include preparing a Christmas basket for an area family and donating toys to the Catholic Home for Children in Alton. They also will contribute money to the Home Economic department at South High School.

Members also planned their annual Christmas dinner party for Dec. 11 at Tony's Restaurant.

Attending the meeting were Martha Burnett, Joyce Jenness, Glenda Moore, Nancy Sabo, Carol Kessler, Mary Ellen Boyer and Rosemarie Kozial.

Christine James marks birthday

Christine James celebrated her seventh birthday at a party given during the weekend in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Charles Yager, 1508 St. Clair Ave.

The honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert James, who hosted the event, used a "Raggedy Ann" theme in the table decorations and party favors. Games were played and refreshments were served to Kathy Teitloff, Anita Jackson, Julie Blackwood, Jodie Stagner and cousins, Carla and Craig Yager and Karen Wickham. Also present were Mrs. Ellen Grace Hoffman, grandmother of the guest of honor, and her aunts, Ruth Yager and Nancy Wickham.

Hugh Cummings services held

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. today at an Edwardsville funeral home for Hugh M. Cummings, 70, of Edwardsville, who died Monday at the John Cochran Veterans Hospital. He was a retired employee of the Granite City Army Depot.

He is survived by his wife, Julia, and a sister, Mrs. Mamie Blackwell of British Columbia, Canada.

Services held for mother of GC man

Funeral services were held Nov. 6 in Elmhurst, Ill., for Mrs. Esther Dawson, 65, the mother of John E. Dawson of Granite City.

Mrs. Dawson, who died Nov. 4 in an Elmhurst hospital, was a frequent visitor here. She also is survived by a second son, Dr. William Dawson of Glenview, Ill., and three grandchildren.

Fee appraiser group elects

Robert G. Kaestner, executive vice president of the National Association of Independent Fee Appraisers, has announced the formation of the Southwestern Illinois Chapter of Independent Fee Appraisers.

At an organizational meeting in Edwardsville, the following officers were elected: Walt Schleimer of Edwardsville, president; Don Hale of Alton, vice-president; and Kelly Martin of Belleville, secretary-treasurer.

Burglarize garage

Items valued at about $65 were stolen from the garage at the Yellow Cab Co., 1920 State St., it was reported Monday.

Entry was gained through an unlocked door to a vacant upstairs apartment. The rear apartment door to the garage was then forced.

Taken were a tool box and tools worth $500, a $145 industrial vacuum cleaner and a $145 floor jack.

Madison calls bids for sale of bridge

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Madison City Council approved a resolution to advertise for bids for the sale of the city-owned Chain of Rocks bridge at its meeting Monday night.

The bridge spans the Mississippi River from Chouteau Township to St. Louis County, north of St. Louis.

The sale will be limited to the bridge superstructure, all supporting structures, piling and accessory objects.

No real estate owned by the city on which the bridge is built or adjacent to the bridge will be included in the sale.

The bid also must comply with and obtain approval and necessary permits from the U.S. Coast Guard, Army Corps of Engineers and other governmental agencies. The sale is subject to approval of governmental agencies.

The council stipulated that all bids must be accompanied by a 10 percent deposit and upon awarding of a contract, the successful bidder has 180 days to furnish the city all permits, requirements and approvals necessary.

The council reserved the right to reject all bids.

Bids must be submitted by noon Dec. 21 at the office of the City Clerk.

Members of the bridge committee are Aldermen Robert Don Reeves, chairman, Mike Sikora, John Haynes, Ray Kozielek and Don Broyles.

Madison purchased the Chain of Rocks Bridge in 1939 on a 25-year bond retirement plan and refinanced it in 1948, after which the bridge profits went to the city treasury.

The city was made tax-free for one year and then expanded its services, built sewers, streets, curbs and sidewalks and amassed a $21 million cash reserve.

The cash balance was used to erect theaters, Industrial Park and bring new industry into the city.

The income-producing traffic on the bridge ended in 1967, but the bridge remained open as a city treasury.

free bridge until April 1970 when it was closed to all traffic.

Pete R. Kosteci, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kosteci 900 Lee Ave., was hired by the council as a probationary patrolman, effective Dec. 1.

Kosteci scored 109 out of a possible 120 points in an exam given by the Board of Police Commissioners. This was the top score in a field of six applicants.

A 1969 graduate of Madison High School, Kosteci took a two-year course in auto mechanics at Rankin Technical Institute in St. Louis and has worked at a Madison service station for the past five years.

The purchasing committee recommended the city buy two Buick LaSabres at a cost of $8,200 plus trade in of two other cars, from Nixon Buick.

Chief of Police Frank Drutko reported to the council that he and members of the purchasing committee had checked with several police departments that have switched from the lighter cars to heavier models, and found that maintenance on the heavy cars is far less costly.

The council also called for bids, to be submitted within the next two weeks, for a new high-lift, front loader for the street department. Bids previously submitted by two companies were rejected and a call for new bids was made as it was felt a heavier machine was needed.

In other council action, a federal grant of $49,000 was accepted from a detective division in conjunction with the City of Venice.

The grant allows for two officers, one from each city, to become full-time detectives and allows for the hiring of one civilian desk clerk. The three-year program also includes in the grant the purchase of two unmarked cars for use by the detectives, and other related equipment.

The initial cost to the two cities in establishing the joint detective force is $1,239.

The council also voted to participate in the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGSWI) and allotted $3,000 as the city's share.

MEG, an anti-drug group, will have 16 agents and a director operating in Madison and St. Clair County. In addition to council approval, one Madison police officer must volunteer to serve with the group. The officer will receive four weeks specialized training from the Illinois Bureau of Investigation in narcotics investigation.

Civil Defense director Casimir S. Krakowiecki reported that he is looking into federal programs and grants in relation to civil defense and is taking a special course to be officially recognized as CD director by the federal and state governments.

Robber hits Holiday Inn

An armed robber stole $251 cash and a $118 check from the Holiday Inn at Sunset Hill at 1:55 p.m. Monday.

Kathy Hackett, 22, an employee, said she was working at the reception counter when a young man, about 25 years of age, entered and started to walk past the counter. She said she asked him if she could help him and he turned, walked to the counter and placed a black flight bag on it.

He displayed a slip of paper and asked her if she could help him with directions to addresses. As she took the note, he displayed a black pistol. She read the note which said, "This is a robbery. Put all the money into the flight bag."

The employee complied and put the full flight bag back on the counter, she said. The robber then told her to lie on the floor and he left through a side door.

A customer said a man matching the description passed him in the parking lot and entered a blue auto. A maid said she saw a man matching the description flee into weeds near the motel.

The robber was described as about 6 feet tall, weighing about 200 pounds and having a beard and long hair. He was wearing a green Army coat or trench coat, the victim told authorities.

In Memoriam 33

In loving memory of JOSEPH JACOBIMCZUK, November 2, 1973.

I have lost my life's companion. A life linked with my own. And every day I miss him more. As I walk through life alone. No one knows the silent heart-aches.

Only those who have lost can tell.

On the grief I bear in silence. For the one I loved so dear. I never knew that hearts could ache.

With such a bitter pain. Longing for a vanished face. To hear his voice again. I never knew that nights could be so lonely cold and dim.

Because of losing him. If all the world were mine to give.

I would give it all and more. To see his face I loved so dear. Come smiling through my door.

Sadly missed by—Wife, Lillian Jacobimczuk, Son, Daughter and FAMILY.

Expect planning grant

"Within the next week or so, we hope to have word from the state that they have approved our Step 2 grant for final planning on the Four Township Sewer Program," Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and chairman of the county's sewer committee, told the Chouteau Town Board of Auditors Monday night.

A progress report on the new sewer program was the main item of business at the town board's regular meeting.

Sparks said the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has written to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC), informing the planning group that all step 2 applications have been received and appear to be in proper order.

The applications must be studied by the project committee before the funds are released, the letter noted. Sparks said questions raised by the state recently on the scope of the sewer program seem to have been answered satisfactorily.

He said the state had asked Ed Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab consulting engineering firm, designers of the sewer, why the plan did not include service to the area between Highway 111 and Route 157 (the bluff).

Juneau who went to Springfield for an answer to the question personally, explained that under the new Madison County Land Use Plan, the area is to remain a "green belt" and is not to be developed until 1995 at the earliest. The state EPA then wrote to SIMAPC indicating it was satisfied with Juneau's answer, Sparks related.

William Verschoyl, chairman of the club visitation committee, announced that on Wednesday, Nov. 27, the president, along with Michael Toudias, Howard Ehterton, Herbert Schannott, and Marvin Barnes will visit the Glen Carbon club and have dinner at the Country Kitchen.

The members were reminded by President Palovich that they will ring bells for the Salvation Army on Friday, Nov. 29.

'Politics' on coal plant

By LESTER BELL

Washington Bureau
Rep. Melvin Price, East St. Louis Democrat, suspects politics entered Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton's decision to select Kentucky instead of Illinois for a coal-liquefaction pilot plant. A Wood River site had been advocated by this state.

Price, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said Morton has yet to justify his selection of Catlettsburg, Ky., after first failing to advise him that Illinois was out of the running for the project.

Sen. Marlow W. Cook, Kentucky Republican, was the first to break the news at a press conference in Louisville on Nov. 1.

Morton confirmed the Kentucky selection in a Washington news release Nov. 4, the day before the election. Sen. Cook was defeated for re-election Nov. 5.

"We got an announcement after the fact," Price said in an interview.

"The normal procedure is to send a press release and provide information on a project interested one way or another." The local congressman said he learned of the announcement at least third-hand and he acknowledged that he is quite exercised at Morton's handling of news of a project in which Illinois has expressed avid interest.

"This was a blow," said Price. "On as important a program as this, I hate to see it decided on politics. The way it was handled makes me suspect that it was."

Price said he is writing to Morton, demanding a copy of the press release and his justification for the selection.

"We're going to find out the background of the Interior Department's decision and examine its justifications," he said.

Price does not believe Illinois has been edged out completely out of the vital coal research picture.

"Commercial operators are still interested," he said. "I

Board policy on ad sales

An advertising policy applying to all publication or broadcast media affiliated with Southern Illinois University was approved Thursday by the university board of trustees.

The policy permits sale of advertising by university programs, departments and student organizations, and requires adherence to specified ethical codes and standards. The policy also provides for review in the event of a complaint.

The resolution adopted by the trustees recognizes that sale of advertising to support publishing and broadcasting activities is an accepted practice in many institutions of higher education, both public and private. It also cites educational benefits provided for students in opportunities for commercial advertising sales experiences.

The policy includes a "no-profit" guideline which specifies that direct or indirect university support given organizations or media shall not, in any fiscal year, exceed the difference between earned media income and actual operating costs of the media.

Under the "complaint" guideline, the president of the campus involved has the authority to review the operation of the university-affiliated organization or media to determine if it is competing fairly and equitably with private media in respect to advertising rates.

Committees composed of students, faculty and professional administrative staff members from the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses approved the policy prior to its adoption by the board.

The policy largely incorporates parts of the SIUE publications policy adopted by the Board on Feb. 14, according to John Paul Davis, general counsel to the SIUE president.

Honor daughter on 1st birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Judd, 714 Brown St., Venice, entertained relatives and friends during the weekend at a party honoring their daughter, Angela, on her first birthday.

A Raggedy Ann and Andy theme was used in the room of decorations and table appointments.

Refreshments were served and games were played.

Among the guests were the honoree's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherry. Also present were Mrs. Linda Hayden, Mrs. Shirley Judd, Mrs. Betty Ballentine, Mrs. Peggy Muir, Mrs. Mary Velma Milton, Paula Wells, Miss Debbie Davis, Miss Tina Judd, Jimmy Hayden, Shannon Grey, Steven Davis, Elizabeth Judd, Sheila Wells, Tami Drexel and out-of-town guests, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schoeber and Mr. and Mrs. Sam DiMarco, all of Overland, Mo.

method.
"I personally don't think we can do it on one pilot plant. We'll need a crash program with several pilot plants."

The Interior Department's Office of Coal Research (OCR) said its contribution to the $8 million first phase of the pilot plant will be $5,421,731. Industry will put up another $2,710,865.

The three-phase project calls ultimately for an $80 million investment, two-thirds to be provided by the federal government.

Morton has announced that Hydrocarbon Research Co., Inc., a subsidiary of Dyna Electron Corp., also of New York, has been selected to perform the first phase of the large Catlettsburg plant.

The 600-ton-per-day plant will be built to test the commercial potential of a coal-to-clean-liquid process involving the direct hydrogenation of slurried coal into synthetic oil.

Hydrocarbon's parent company, Dyna Electron, developed the H-coal process. Hydrocarbon's first-phase job will be to design the plant, perform additional work on a test unit at Trenton, N. J., and provide environmental and economic data over a 23-month period.

The second and third phases will cover construction and operation.

An OCR spokesman said it will be at least a year before any construction contracts can be awarded.

Extensive child abuse

By JOAN MURARO

Springfield Bureau
New reporting requirements are credited with substantial increases in reported cases of child abuse and child neglect in Illinois in fiscal 1974.

During the fiscal year which ended on June 30, there were 1,867 cases reported, an increase of 707 cases, or 61 per cent, over the state total of 1,160 in fiscal '73, new statistics showed today.

Cook County, predictably, since it has the highest percentage of the state's population, has the largest number of reported cases—644 in '73, and 962 in '74. Of these, 576 and 845 respectively, occurred in Cook County outside the city of Chicago.

Cases are scattered throughout the state, with only a handful of counties showing a decline in numbers of cases between the two most recent years.

Among those outside the Chicago area which reported significant increases were Champaign County with 15 in '73 and 38 in '74; Macon which went from 22 to 48; and Madison County, rising from 26 to 68.

Also, Rock Island, increasing from 10 to 66; St. Clair rising from 37 to 90, and Winnebago, which went from 47 cases in 1973 to 64 reported incidents in 1974.

Lake County increased from 29 cases in '73 to 61 reports in '74.

Sangamon County went from 13 to 16 cases between '73 and '74.

Caseworkers and others in the Department of Children and Family Services credit much of the increase to a broader base of abuse reporters, now obligated by law to report suspected cases of child abuse or neglect.

Prior to September 1973, only physicians and a few other health sources were required to make such reports.

After that effective date, school teachers, administrators, transient officers, social workers, social service administrators, registered nurses, directors or staff assistants at nursery schools or child day care centers, law enforcement officers and the department's own field personnel were all required to report.

The same law guarantees protection from civil or criminal action because of making the report, taking the position that the person making the report has the proper intention—that of protecting the child.

Since the child abuse reporting act first became effective in 1965, to June 30 of this year, there have been 7,285 cases of abuse or neglected children reported in the state, involving 7,074 different children.

Beating remains the most single common means of abuse—1,849 cases in fiscal '74, compared to 396 in '73.

Other categories listed by the department include fractures, malnutrition, burns, poisoning, sexual abuse, neglect and multiple abuses, while only a few other cases are tallied only as "other" or "not reported."

Mothers account for most of the incidents, 395, for 34.1 per cent of the total, in '73, and 637 cases, for the same percentage in '74.

Next come fathers (210 in '73, 406 in '74), as well as 58 cases involving both mother and father in '73 and 103 involving both parents in '74.

Putting them all together, parents, individually or collectively accounted for more than 60 per cent of the total reported cases.

Other common abuse sources are step-parents, the mother's paramour, siblings, other relatives, babysitters, neighbors, and foster parents.

Increase in food stamp allotments

Under Secretary of Agriculture J. Phil Campbell has announced that the food stamp allotment for a family of four will increase on Jan. 1 from $150 to $154, based on August food price statistics.

The Food Stamp Act, as amended by the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, requires that coupon allotments be adjusted semiannually to reflect changes in the prices of food as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Allotment adjustments are based on the cost of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) economy food plan as it is computed from BLS food prices.

The law requiring semiannual adjustments specified that the January 1974 adjustment reflect changes in food prices through August 1973. The law requiring semiannual adjustments specified that the January 1974 adjustment reflect changes in food prices through August 1973.

A similar procedure was used for the July 1974 adjustment and is being used for the January 1975 increase in the value of the coupon allotment, which is based on the cost of the economy food plan in August 1974.

The cost of the economy food plan for August was $153 for a family of four with school children. Accordingly, USDA will raise the value for the coupon allotment from $150 to $154 for a family of four and make appropriate adjustments for other household sizes. The maximum income eligibility standard for the four-person household will increase from $500 to $513.

Maximum income eligibility standards by household size starting Jan. 1 are: one, $184; two, $280; three, $406; four, $513; five, $606; six, $700; seven, $793; and eight, $886. For each additional household member over eight, $73 is added to the eight-person eligibility level.

Youth fined for theft at SIUE

Rikki A. Carthen, 17, of St. Louis, charged with stealing stereo record albums from the University Bookstore at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, was fined $110 in the Madison County Circuit Court.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of petty theft. He was accused of attempting to leave the bookstore on Nov. 13 with 15 record albums he had not purchased. He was stopped by bookstore employees, who notified security officers.

Officers later found eight other albums allegedly taken from the bookstore and hidden in a University Center Lounge. Carthen is not a student at the university.

Youngsters to learn about scout program

Quad-City boys between the ages of 11 and 14, in addition to 200 former Webelos scouts, are being invited to the front play area of St. Elizabeth School, Pontoon and Johnson Roads, at 9:30 a.m. Saturday for a day of fun, food and learning about the Scouting program offered in the area.

Boys will learn the skills needed to earn the scout badge, plus skills such as knife and ax sharpening, wood chopping and how to prepare for a long distance hike.

Boy Scout Troops conducting skills and events will be Troop 46, sponsored by the Nameoki School PTA, will teach cooking; Troop 21, First United Presbyterian Church of Madison, fire building; Troop 5, Nameoki Methodist Church, scout oath, law, and motto; Troop 22, Prohardt School PTA, hiking skills; Troop 102, Suburban Baptist Church, knife, ax and outdoor code; Troop 8, First United Presbyterian Church of Granite City, first aid; and Troop 7, St.

Joseph's Catholic Church, ropes and knot skills.

After the prospective scout completes the requirements at each demonstration area, he will then be qualified to join Boy Scouting.

Every new boy attending is asked to bring either a diced potato, a sliced carrot, piece of celery or a diced onion. This will all be contributed to a common pot and every one will have stew for lunch.

Local scoutmasters for 25 scout troops will be on hand to accept new boys into their units. As a special bonus for the day's activities the local McDonald's Restaurant will issue a certificate good for a free "Big Mac" and Tri-Mor Bowl will issue a certificate for two free games of bowling to all new boys joining a scout troop.

Fight with police, brothers arrested

Charles Tilson, 21, and Eddie Tilson, 19, both of 1725 Courtenay Blvd., were charged with battery, resisting arrest and fighting after police halted an alleged fight at Wabash and Waterman avenues at 3:15 p.m. Sunday.

The two allegedly were beating Jerry Lee Spicer, 1732 Courtenay Blvd., when police arrived. Officers reported they had to fight two men and had to chase Charles Tilson about a block and tackle him in order to make the arrests. Charles Tilson was struck on the head with a flashlight during the altercation.

At the police station, after handcuffs were removed from the two men, officers alleged another scuffle ensued and force had to be used to control the men.

Spicer signed complaints against the Tilsons.

ENTER SERVICE STATION

An inventory was being taken this week to determine if anything was stolen during a break-in at Collins Shell service station, Nameoki and Johnson roads. Glass in an overhead garage door was broken and the door was unlocked by reaching through the broken pane, it is believed.

Guitar accompaniment fine background music while orchestrating a country boy's political campaign

We like much of the music in the country-and-western field and are not surprised to see that the list of converts include a former big-corporation executive, Daniel Walker.

The fact that he is governor of Illinois—and that he has just made the traditional Presidential hopefuls' trek to Alabama—is, of course, purely coincidental to his conversion.

A mid-November news release from David Cleverdon, executive director of Walker's Illinois Democratic Fund, relates plans for concerts at 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. Dec. 6 at the St. Clair County Exposition Hall. It describes the programs as "an attempt to get away from the 'fat cats.' We want to raise political money by offering people something they will enjoy—good country music."

Entertainers at the Belleville concerts will be Del Reeves, Jim Ed Brown, Jean Shepherd, the Jake Hess Sound, Jack Greene, Mickey Gilley, Jeannie Seely, Kenny Serraf, the Sego Brothers with Naomi, the Dixie Diesels and—last, but far from least—Stan Hitchcock.

It is Hitchcock who has recorded "A Winner Walkin' Home," a musical tribute to the 1971-72 walk through Illinois by a bandanna-bedecked candidate named Walker.

As Hitchcock sings his role as vice-chairman of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, especially in view of the retirement of Lawrence Roos as Gateway Council chairman due to his decision not to seek a fourth term as St. Louis County supervisor.

Mr. Roos indicated at a testimonial dinner honoring him Tuesday night that the supervisor-elect he supported, Gene McNary, may designate Roos to continue representing St. Louis County on East-West. If this proves to be feasible, no doubt Mr. Roos will try for another one-year East-West chairman term starting this winter.

In any event, whether as vice-chairman or chairman, Mr. Hagnauer could play a prominent role in the present and future of the association of elected officials who constitute the St. Louis metropolitan and dreams of his fellow man keeps him walkin' on across the land.

"Grandma's wavin' from the front porch. Farmers comin' from the fields. Lord, they need him so. Stoppin' at a country store—sweat stains on the denim shirt he wore. A handshake and a look that tells here's a man who means just what he says."

Does that dusty trail by the cornstalks lead as far as the White House? According to vocalist Hitchcock, "It's a long way to go. His body's tired. But not his soul. This time there's a winner walkin' home."

The obligatory chat in Birmingham with Gov. George Wallace—and a few applause-getting "down home" remarks to a Southern audience—were followed by a Walker endorsement of the 1976 Democratic ticket no matter who it contains—including, specifically, George Wallace but not ruling out walking Dan Walker.

An earlier visit to Gov. Wallace's stamping grounds was made by Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, who later was complimentary but still later said he could not support a Wallace-led ticket.

In between the two occurrences, Sen. Kennedy took himself out of the Presidential race, the fleet front-runner stepping aside to leave the dusty path to that big white mansion open to those who only walk toward their objective. Which brings to mind a tortoise-and-hare story that we don't have space to go into at this time.

High post for Hagnauer in regional planning body

We were about to say here that continuation of Nelson Hagnauer as Madison County Board chairman is especially important this fall and winter because of his role as vice-chairman of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, especially in view of the retirement of Lawrence Roos as Gateway Council chairman due to his decision not to seek a fourth term as St. Louis County supervisor.

Mr. Roos indicated at a testimonial dinner honoring him Tuesday night that the supervisor-elect he supported, Gene McNary, may designate Roos to continue representing St. Louis County on East-West. If this proves to be feasible, no doubt Mr. Roos will try for another one-year East-West chairman term starting this winter.

In any event, whether as vice-chairman or chairman, Mr. Hagnauer could play a prominent role in the present and future of the association of elected officials who constitute the St. Louis metropolitan region's central planning agency—the only such body involved in the total range of regional needs and problems.

The East-West Council's fields of interest include highway routes, solid waste disposal, land use, railroad modernization, port progress, mass transit and recreation.

As noted at its annual meeting Nov. 12, East-West "as a review authority certified by the U.S. government is an essential element in the process by which federal funds are made available for public purposes."

"Representing voters of counties and municipalities in both Illinois and Missouri, the Council is an important means by which local officials can work together on solutions to common problems. It has no statutory authority to implement the plans it develops, but its work is invaluable to the implementing agencies throughout the region."

Ill. Power has 82-day coal supply

Major electric generating stations in Illinois have coal reserves ranging from 53 days to 110 days, according to a report compiled yesterday by Chairman Marvin Lieberman of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Coal supply data submitted by privately owned utilities to the state is assembled by the Commission on a regular periodic basis and has become more meaningful in light of the coal production halt due to a strike by miners and ensuing delay in submitting a new contract for ratification by union members.

As of the beginning of this week, Lieberman said, figures on the coal supply of utility companies were as follows:

Central Illinois Light Co., Peoria, serving areas in the central part of the state, 88 days; Central Illinois Public Service Co., Springfield, serving central and southern sections, 82 days; Commonwealth Edison Co., Chicago, serving the Chicago metropolitan area and the northern third of the state, 86 days.

Illinois Power Co., Decatur, with service areas throughout central, southern and northern sections, including Granite City, 82 days; Union Electric Co., St. Louis, serving an area in Illinois east of the Mississippi River, including parts of the Quad-Cities, 60 days.

Southern Illinois Power Co., Operative, Marion, which provides energy to co-operatives in the southern section, 53 days; and Western Illinois Power Co.-Operative, Jacksonville, providing electricity to cooperatives in the southwestern area, 110 days.

On the oil front, President Ford effected two-pronged action. He appealed to his countrymen to voluntarily cut back on the use of gasoline and ordered a reduction in fuel use by the federal government.

Most recently, he created a new energy program management team which will concentrate both on conserving energy and expanding energy supplies.

AND NOW THE OBSTACLE COURSE

New state education board 'lacks philosophy' — Bakalis

By MICHAEL J. BAKALIS
State Superintendent of Public Instruction

I have informed Jack Witkowski, chairman of the Illinois State Board of Education, that I have officially withdrawn my name as a candidate for the position of state superintendent of education under the appointed system.

I have given this much thought over the past month, and feel it is in my best interests professionally and in the best interests of the State Board of Education that I withdraw.

A superintendent and a board must be mutually compatible and it is clear to me that it would not be in my best interests to continue as a candidate for the following reasons:

1. The board has developed no philosophical positions on major educational issues and consequently could give me no assurance that programs I deeply believe in would be continued.
2. The board could present no clearly defined description of the position of superintendent, and consequently there was no indication as to what role they wanted the superintendent to play in statewide educational matters.
3. There was apparently a feeling among some that my election to this position on a partisan ticket was a negative factor. This issue never allowed the educational record to be fairly evaluated.

I sincerely believe I can best conduct my educational goals in a new professional setting.

This action relieves my mind of a burden which has been weighing heavily on me for too long a time. I leave this office with no regrets and with a proud record which has brought national recognition to educational programs in Illinois.

I will offer to the board and to the man they finally choose as superintendent, my full cooperation for the next two months, and I wish them well.

Ford's first 100 days assessed

By PAULA MILTICH
Special Assistant to the President for Public Affairs

On Nov. 16, President Gerald Ford marked his first 100 days in office. A brief review of the Ford administration at this point reveals a notable number of achievements.

From the outset, President Ford set a tone of stability and continuity in foreign policy, peace and candor in domestic affairs, cooperation and reasonableness in his dealings with the Congress. Here in community forums are some highlights of his first 100 days as President of the United States.

In line with his pledge of an open administration, Mr. Ford took an unprecedented action. He not only sponsored a series of mini-summit conferences on the economy culminating in a two-day televised Economic Summit, but personally presided over many of the meetings. He has had the broadest exposure to economic views of any of our Presidents.

Following up on the Economic Summit, Pres. Ford laid a 31-point program before Congress designed to attack the problem of spiraling prices and other weaknesses in the economy—a program of action which will help add balance and vitality to our economy.

In other actions directed at economic ills, he moved in on possible price-fixing in the food industry and spearheaded an effort to reduce our dependence on foreign oil.

At the President's direction, the Justice Department is probing the pricing of meat, milk, bread, sugar, eggs and other food staples under orders to crack down on price fixers.

The President has also asked the Justice Department to move against fee-fixing by professionals, such as doctors, lawyers and real estate agents.

On the oil front, President Ford effected two-pronged action. He appealed to his countrymen to voluntarily cut back on the use of gasoline and ordered a reduction in fuel use by the federal government.

overseas missions and pressed repeatedly for solutions to the Cyprus situation and the conflict between Arabs and Israelis.

The President underscored the continuity of American foreign policy and our constant striving for peace throughout the world by meeting with the ambassadors of numerous countries, including the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ambassadors.

He also met with the leaders of Israel, Jordan, Poland, Italy, Japan, Portugal, Australia, Iran, Mexico, Israel, India, Argentina, the Soviet Union, Great Britain, Indonesia, Italy, West Germany, France, Brazil, South Vietnam and Pakistan. In addition, he is visiting Japan, South Korea and the Soviet Union this week.

At the December meeting has been scheduled with the French president in Martinique and diplomatic relations have been established with East Germany.

From his first day in office, Pres. Ford has felt that one of his chief responsibilities is to work with Congress in a spirit of conciliation and compromise.

He has done that, and the fruits of this joint effort are visible for all Americans to see—landmark legislation in the fields of education, housing, pension reform, campaign reform and energy problem-solving.

The Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 was far-reaching legislation which helped boost long-range prospects for the housing market. It is also historic because it replaces the home loan credit crunch with a single block grant program for community development.

Acutely aware of the depressed state of the housing industry, Pres. Ford also acted to bolster it by helping to pass emergency legislation. Congress quickly responded with a bill designed to help ease the home loan credit crunch and spur the building of 100,000 homes.

Subsequently, the President also signed an act boosting the availability of mortgage money—a measure returning to institutions insured by the Federal Savings and Loan

Insurance Corporation more than $1 billion in insurance premiums over the next ten years not now required by the FSLIC.

A hallmark of the Ford administration in all fields has been the openness and candor he committed his administration to from the beginning.

By holding frequent press conferences and giving reporters the opportunity for follow-up questions, he has honored his pledge of an open administration to both the press and the people.

Briefly, here are some of the other key actions that have distinguished the Ford administration in its first 100 days.

1. Called on all Americans to enlist in a volunteer campaign to fight inflation.
2. Established a national Council on Wage and Price Stability.
3. Succeeded in getting a $54 rollback in the price of 1975 General Motors cars.
4. Issued an executive order limiting White House access to income tax returns.
5. Launched a program of conditional amnesty for draft evaders and military deserters.
6. Helped shape a mass transit bill into a six-year $12 billion measure that is expected to be passed during the lame-duck session of Congress in an acceptable form.
7. Negotiated a workable compromise which will allow the permanent passage of year-of-much-needed foreign trade reform legislation.
8. Moved to cut fiscal 1975 federal spending by $1.5 billion and to aim for a balanced budget for fiscal 1976.
9. Met, individually, with five major American labor leaders—George Meany of the AFL-CIO, Frank Fitzsimmons of the Teamsters, Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers, Arnold Miller of the United Mine Workers and Paul Hall of the Seafarers.
10. Met with leaders of national women's organizations.
11. Met with representatives of the National Governors' Conference, the National Association of County Officials, the U.S. Conference of Mayors and National League of Cities, and state legislative leaders.
12. Met with the Congressional black caucus and Treatment plant here is massive building project

The current national issue of Construction Digest features on its cover a photograph of the local, secondary sewage treatment plant and the heading, "Granite City treatment plant—a concrete example."

An article in the magazine entitled "Granite City updates plant to boost capacity" explains the mammoth construction project and presents 11 photographs.

One photo of a model of the plant shows how the new treatment facility and the sludge tanks will appear when completed.

Others depict construction of a "Y" wall and a floor slab for a sludge tank; a backhoe cutting a trench for a 48-inch-diameter reinforced concrete pipe that will direct the flow into the treatment area; formation of a pump housing; a re-bar for a sludge tank wall; pouring of ready-mix concrete received from the Kienstra firm's Wood River plant; and vibrating fresh mix into forms to make walls.

The article relates that: "A concerted effort is being made to complete basic structures of new Granite City, Ill., storm and wastewater treatment facilities before high water forces a retreat from construction activities."

The facilities, situated in a levee-protected flood plain alongside the Mississippi River and the Chain of Rocks spillway, are being built on soils under which ground water levels fluctuate as the Mississippi rises and falls.

These ground water swells have adversely affected construction activities in the past, requiring extensive wellpointing to dewater flooded excavations.

Once the thick concrete slabs for the structures are in place, ground water fluctuations will not pose as many problems for the contractor.

Granite City's eight-year-old wastewater treatment plant is being upgraded to increase primary treatment capacities by three million gallons per day and add a 23-mgd secondary treatment facility.

The G. L. Tarlton Contracting Co. of St. Louis is prime contractor on the $10-million project, designed by M.W. Inc., Architects-Engineers, of Indianapolis and St. Louis.

Because about 25 per cent of the area being served has combined sanitary and storm sewage, which during times of heavy rainfall overload the existing plant and cause excess flow to discharge untreated into the river, a massive overflow treatment structure capable of increasing treatment capacity to 230 million gallons is included in the project.

"As a general Environmental Protection Agency rule-of-thumb, treatment plants have capacity for a combined overflow of 10 times the plant capacity," said Ray Hecker, M-W's resident inspector.

"We have a 23-mgd plant, so for the combined overflow we need a 230-mgd tank. This is 680 feet long and 164 feet wide."

Hecker indicated that after storm flows subside, the settled sludge in this combined overflow tank will be pumped to a new 23-mgd tank by a crew of collectors at one end by using a rubber-tired Cat 930 front-end loader working in the tank.

Concrete ramps provide ready access into the tank for the loader.

The massive rectangular structure, now more than half completed, required 22,184 cubic yards of excavation, and will involve forming and placement of 7530 cubic yards of concrete and 565 tons of reinforcing steel.

The overflow treatment tank is just one of 14 structures either being constructed or being renovated for the facility.

Other structures range from small pumping stations to 70-foot and 80-foot-diameter circular concrete tanks to the overflow structure and to back-lake 250-foot x 300-foot sludge treatment and 200 x 212-foot sedimentation tanks.

All of the structures are in some phase of construction, Hecker indicated.

There is considerable concentration now on the aeration tank, because they want to get it up out of the ground before the fall river rise comes.

"Once the slab is completed, they can pump water off that with no problem and continue to work on the walls."

"They're working on the combined overflow tank also, but there is not as much concentration there because it is in a shallower excavation, and they will probably be able to work under all winter regardless of the river."

Ground water raised during excavation of the aeration structures earlier this year. "At one time we had about six feet of water in the excavation and a foot of water over the slab of the adjacent settling tank, which is about five feet above the aeration tank slab," the inspector noted.

Because of the size of those structures, it was unfeasible to install a wellpoint system for dewatering, as was necessary in the 21 x 92-foot combined overflow pump station.

"While working on this pumping structure, which goes 24 feet into the ground, we had ground water to within 8 feet of the surface," Hecker added.

"So we had to use about 150 wellpoints, about twice as many as Griffin (Wellpoint Systems, Hammond, Ind.) had anticipated."

Walking the project, Hecker said, "Material here is primarily sandy soil, with very little sand about six feet down."

"We did run into an area which had been an old dump, and this soil had to be removed and replaced with clean sand."

"Generally, though, it's very good and compacts well. If we have a downpour on one day, by the next it's dry enough to work on."

"Sand compaction under the slabs is required at 95 per cent, but we had to use about 150 wellpoints, about twice as many as Griffin (Wellpoint Systems, Hammond, Ind.) had anticipated."

On the average, walls of the structures are 12 to 14 feet high, and generally 12 inches thick. Most exterior walls will be further protected by built-up earth berms around the structures.

Tarlton is using ganged Symons forms to block out walls poured after rebar is tied in place.

On interior walls which are topped by "Y"s, in the sludge aeration tanks, metal Economy forms are utilized.

Hecker explained that the "Y" walls are just dividing walls between tanks, while "Y" walls house air pipes and diffusers to inject air into the sludge.

Tarlton is using American 385 crawler cranes to move and set the wall forms. Hecker said bucket concrete from ready-mix trucks into the formwork and slabs.

Concrete for the project is being supplied by Kienstra Concrete Co., Wood River.

In addition to the structural work under way at the Granite City plant, Tarlton is installing a 500-foot-long, 84-inch-diameter reinforced concrete sewer line between the waste water pumping station and the overflow structure.

Set in a shallow trench being excavated with an American Model 25 backhoe, the 16-foot-long, 21-ton precast sections are hoisted and set by an American 7510 truck crane.

Throughout the project, a total of 2246 linear feet of pipe will be placed to connect the various structures.

This and 72-inch diameter pipe going to the outfall sewer are being supplied by Interpace Corp.

Aaron Pierson, who heads M-W's St. Louis division, said the project is being financed by revenue bonds and federal grant funds through the Environmental Protection Agency.

Tarlton began initial ground-work in mid-October 1973, with completion scheduled in late 1975.

Tarlton's project manager is Paul Newton and Dan Walton is project superintendent.

Major subcontractors include: the Murphy Co., Granite City; Guaranty Electrical Co.; Federal Steel Supply Co., structural steel and miscellaneous materials; the Environmental Corp., process equipment; Autco plant monitoring system; Roots-Drum, blowers; and FMC Corp., process equipment.

A DOLL AND HER DOLLS. former Quad-City resident Mrs. Irene Hackney Hendrick, 82, now resides in Houston, Tex., and has searched much of the world for dolls to add to her collection. The countries she has not had an opportunity to visit, she hopes to tour soon. Mrs. Hackney resided in Venice and then in Granite City about 15 years, moving to Houston in the 1920s. She and her former husband, Frank Hackney, operated a grocery store in the 2800 block of Iowa Street several years.

Former resident searches the world for dolls

Mrs. Irene Hendrick, a former Quad-City resident who has numerous relatives here, is featured in the following article written by her sister, Mrs. Ruby Miller Reed. Both sisters reside in Houston, Tex.

Mrs. Hendrick was married to Frank Hackney during the 15 years they resided here, first in Venice and then in Granite City, during the 1920s. They ran a grocery store in the 2800 block of Iowa Street several years and Frank worked for the Illinois Terminal Railroad as the terminal's car line.

Mr. Hackney died after they moved to Houston and she married the late Rev. T. P. Hendrick.

Local relatives include nephews James Hackney, 3282 Kilaney Drive, Ellis Hackney Sr., 1011 Third St., Venice, and Harold Hackney, 2917 National Ave., and a niece, Mrs. Grace Hornum, 1508 Second St., Madison, and their children.

Dolls are among the more charming instincts of grown women, too. And of hundreds of men. These doll-loving adults aren't at all immature candidates for psychotherapy.

They're doll collectors. And they're as enthusiastic about their hobby as collectors of bottles, pitchers, salt and pepper shakers, antiques, art, guns or just junk. In fact, doll collecting ranks third as a hobby for Americans, only below coin collecting and stamp collecting. But doll collectors have more fun. That's not a statement supported by statistics. It's a personal observation.

My sister Irene is a doll nut. Irene has a prospector's viewpoint. She believes a doll, like gold, is where you find it. She's found most of her dolls in shops. She's had some given to her. But she's also plucked them from trash cans, fished them from mud puddles, rescued them from roadside ditches and salvaged them from fires.

She's traveled across most of the world's continents acquiring the bulk of her collection. She's been lost in Paris in quest of a doll, and even rode a camel during an expedition to Egypt. Getting on a camel is quite a feat, Irene says.

"The camel is sitting on the ground with his legs folded under him when you mount," she said. "Then he begins to raise up on his back legs while his front end is still on the ground."

"Do you realize how long a camel's hind legs are when they are straightened out?" Right now, Irene is planning another foreign tour to shop for dolls. She's considering Australia. That's the only continent she hasn't visited.

My sister Irene is 82. At that age, her instincts are more than charming. They're beautiful. Irene is Mrs. T. P. Hendrick, widow of a Methodist minister. She's loved dolls since we were little girls in Rusk. But she didn't begin collecting them until she was past 70.

That's when she started gawwawing, too. I think she was influenced by a poem she has hanging on the wall of her home. It's by an anonymous poet, and Irene's had it for as long as I can remember.

"Come, little leaves, said the wind one day.

Come over the meadow with me and play.

I think all of us, at one time or another, would like to go out and play with the wind. But there's little time to frolic in the meadows of the world when you're a working wife, then a working mother and have a multitude of family responsibilities. Of course, Irene loved being a wife and mother, and she had fun with her family. She was the postmaster of the old Sunset Heights branch post office in Texas for eight years, and she had fun there, too.

It was a jolly kind of post office, where people could not only pick up their mail but pay the utility bills, get the neighborhood news and swap things. There's no post offices like that any more.

Well, in 1963, Irene suddenly realized she was a widow, with her children grown and gone and no grandchildren under foot.

She was a leaf-free to play with the wind. "I was all by myself," she said. "And I didn't want to store up too much money, so I started spending it."

She signed up for a one-month tour of Europe. The tour stopped first in Brussels, Belgium, and Irene spotted a doll depicting a little old lady in a rocking chair, her spectacles perched on her nose, making Brussels lace.

In Rome, she picked up a doll dressed in the garb of the Vatican Guard. In Paris, she bought a high-stepping "can can" dancer doll (what else) and became separated from her tour group. She was supposed to have met the group at the top of the Eiffel Tower, but missed them and found herself alone among a mob of Frenchmen.

"No need," said Irene. "I just hailed a cab, showed the driver the name of my hotel on a card I had, and gave him a handful of money. He delivered me right to my hotel. The only thing is, I don't know to this day how much I gave him."

Irene arrived home with a suitcase full of dolls, all representative of the countries she'd visited. Three years later, in 1966, she was off on another foreign tour, Africa and the Middle East, including Jerusalem.

"I have always wanted to go to the Holy Land, and I think I liked it best," Irene said. "I walked all around the Sea of Galilee, gathering pebbles and shells."

In Cairo, Irene purchased a miniature bust of Nefertiti, exquisitely carved from alabaster. "It's not really a doll," she points out. "But I always wanted to know what real alabaster was like."

Irene's friends and relatives have sent her dolls from all over the U.S. and the world. A missionary friend sent her one from Nigeria, Africa. A grandson in the Marines sent her one from Okinawa. Other gift dolls have come from Canada, Hawaii, Japan, South America and a good many of the states. I even helped her shop for dolls on a cruise to the Bahamas a few years ago.

Dolls obviously fascinate people, and are sometimes made from the strangest materials. Irene has a set of dolls from the Arkansas mountains, "hillbillies," she calls them, carved from wood. She has a doll from Minnesota made from rocks, another made of corn cobs and still another fashioned from burlap.

Irene has made several dolls herself and restored a dozen or more. The latter are dolls she calls her orphans, and I think they're her favorites. Several are my favorites. I know.

"They were unloved and abandoned," said Irene. "I found one in my back yard, another in a ditch."

In the wake of a heavy rain one day, Irene was waiting for a bus when she noticed, sticking out of a mud puddle, the head of a discarded doll. She fished it out and took it with her. On returning, she decided to seise the puddle for the rest of the doll, and recovered both legs, the torso body and the arms. It turned out to be a rather rare doll.

Another was found in a trash can. And a large, and also rare and valuable doll, was given her by a little girl who lived in the neighborhood. She came to Irene's home one day and held out the doll. "My uncle gave it to me and it's very old, but I don't care about it anymore," said the girl.

Irene accepted the doll, but only after checking with the girl's mother. Some of Irene's dolls are 75 to 100 years old. One was sent by a friend in Pennsylvania whose home was burned. The doll's head was found in the basement later, and Irene made a body for it.

Her doll collection, of course,

Pontoon board vote blocks reinstatement of typist

An attempt to reinstate a typist for the Pontoon Beach Zoning Board of Appeals failed by one vote during last week's Pontoon Beach Village Board meeting.

Mrs. Marion Henderson formerly was the clerk for the zoning inspector, her husband, Jerry Henderson, until the board discontinued the office in 1971.

During last week's meeting, Dr. Dean Rochester made a motion to hire a typist for $25 per month for the zoning board. The motion received a 3-2 favorable vote, but the village attorney ruled a two-thirds vote was needed. Since four favorable votes were required, the board turned to the Village Board President Floyd David Moss for the determining vote. Moss said he did not have sufficient information to act at this time and declined to vote. The issue was tabled for consideration at a later date.

The board approved the recommendations of the appeals board on three cases, granting a special use permit to Vincent and Margaret Germino, 12 Tulip Court, for a day-care center there, and approving the placement of a double-wide mobile home at 1415 Highway 111 for Richard Jones.

The board complied in the appeals board, request to deny the petition of Keith Biggs, 4018 Kaseberg Lane, for a special use permit to keep three horses on his property.

The board moved the next regular meeting date one week because of Thanksgiving and will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 21.

December board meetings will be Dec. 12 and 19. The trustees discussed mobile and modular homes which are being placed in the village without proper approval from the board and zoning officials, and determined to cite any new offenders for violations of the ordinances requiring special use permits.

Bills approved included $6,512 from the general town fund, $12,611 from motor fuel tax funds and $284 from federal revenue sharing accounts.

Roy Peterson on staff of higher board

Roy P. Peterson, associate professor of biological sciences and assistant dean of the Graduate School at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been named to the staff of the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) as associate director for academic affairs.

The appointment will be effective Jan. 1. Peterson was recommended by Richard D. Wagner, acting executive director of the IBHE, and Donald Prince, IBHE chairman, and the appointment was approved by the IBHE Board this week.

Peterson has been a faculty member at SIUE since 1969 and has served on various curricula councils and committees, conducted scientific research and training, and is active in community affairs.

For the 1973-74 academic

year, Peterson was an American Council of Education fellow at Oregon State University, where he served as assistant to the president.

A native of Alexandria, La., Peterson is a graduate of Southern University, New Orleans, where he later became a member of the faculty.

He received his master's degree at the University of Oregon and was awarded a doctoral degree in entomology at the University of Iowa.

Select programs to be aided by Swim-Y-Thon

Tom Rich, chairman of the YMCA Swim-Y-Thon, announced this week, "We have designated four projects to benefit from the third annual Swim-Y-Thon. The committee reviewed many projects in making its determination to support four unique 'Y' related areas."

First is YMCA World Service, a division that operates in 87 countries, provides support for disaster relief, refugee education and training in the Middle East and Far East. It helps YMCA's in other countries start programs to meet special needs and provides exchange of staff members to countries who seek to start their own YMCA's.

Rich said, "For a nation like the U.S.A., to continue its leadership in the world, we need to provide an expression of our concern for others. The 'Y' through World Service program, is a people to people effort."

YMCA's are operational among the Indians on the reservations in the Dakotas. There are nine centers on the Sioux reservation which include men, women, boys and girls in their membership. The poverty level and suicide rate are five times the national average, and isolation is hard to imagine, Rich said.

Many YMCA's across the U.S. have started matching fund programs with the YMCA's among the Indians to help them meet the many personal needs. The Tri-City Area YMCA, through the Swim-Y-Thon, is seeking to become a partner in helping the Indians on the reservations.

The daily opportunity to provide a membership for a boy or girl who cannot afford to join the 'Y' is another project the Swim-Y-Thon is seeking to support. Although the 'Y' provided 162 worthy youth membership in the summer, it has not met the requests which it continues to receive for youngsters who want to belong to the 'Y'. The board of directors of the 'Y' has adopted a goal that no youngster will be denied membership in the 'Y' due to lack of funds. We hope to provide more memberships for youngsters who deserve them.

Third, the Swim-Y-Thon will help support the 'Y' aquatic program to help the 'Y' swim team and to promote swimming and water safety.

Rich said, "The committee was concerned in providing for the 'Y' to continue its pressing its concern for others beyond the local community. About 65 per cent of the funds will be used locally and 35 per cent will be distributed to others in need."

The Swim-Y-Thon is set for Nov. 29 and 30 at the Tri-City Area YMCA. Swimmers and sponsors now are being requested to sign up to participate. Rich commented.

Menbere Surafiel, graduate student from Ethiopia at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, lectured last week at Dunbar School in Madison to students in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades. Surafiel is the first of a series of foreign students who have been scheduled to talk to students in a new Social Studies (active learning) program.

Propose to end rail line from Terre Haute

The United States Railway Association (USRA) has added two major Penn Central rail lines in Illinois to the previously announced rail lines for possible abandonment.

The two lines the USRA has added for possible discontinuance are the Peoria and Eastern line from the Illinois-Indiana border to Peoria and the former New York Central main line from Terre Haute to East St. Louis.

The Peoria and Eastern runs from the Illinois-Indiana border east of Danville for 125 miles to Peoria via Danville, Champaign, Urbana and Bloomington. The former New York Central line stretches 173 miles from Paris via Charleston, Mattson and Pana to East St. Louis.

Hond charged that the "USRA has added these lines to the list of those for possible discontinuance without properly consulting the state or affected local communities and shippers."

"The two lines serve more than 80 communities and a number of industries and run through some of the most productive agricultural areas in Illinois. This department is putting a major effort into developing a rail plan to provide needed services in Illinois. We are not going to allow discontinuance of rail service that would adversely affect communities, industry or agriculture."

Congress created the association as a non-profit government corporation to develop a rail system for the Midwest-Northeast region of the U.S. out of the remains of bankrupt railroads in that area. Bond noted.

State hospital caseload still shows decrease

The number of residents confined in inpatient Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities facilities continues to slowly decline, according to the latest DMHDD figures.

Residents numbered 13,862 on Jan. 1, while at the end of August of that year the number had dropped to 13,194.

The state facilities at Dixon, Lincoln and Manteno continue to house the largest number of residents with 1,940, 1,862 and 1,721, respectively.

The smallest facilities, as of Aug. 30, were Herman M. Adler Zone Center, Champaign, eight residents; Adolf Meyer Zone Center, Decatur, 38; and Andrew McFarland Zone Center, Springfield, 70.

Within the state-operated inpatient network, there are 26 facilities, 17 of which are deemed developmental disabilities facilities. Of the 17, the Waukegan Mental Retardation Center has not yet officially opened.

Besides the 26 inpatient facilities, there are 38 state-operated outpatient clinics (many located within the inpatient facilities), 31 contractual drug abuse programs, 264 grant-in-aid facilities and five private sanitariums.

Of the 2,136 direct admissions occurring during August, 1,499 of them were voluntary. Of the remaining admissions, 425 were emergency, 113 by certificate of physician, 21 by court order, nine by "informal" methods and 69 classified as "other."

Male residents outnumber females in the state-operated facilities. Of an average daily resident total of 13,596, 7,926 were men while 5,678 were female.

In the state's outpatient clinics, 21,226 cases were treated, the majority of which were mentally ill or emotionally disturbed cases; 93,051 active cases were reported at grant-in-aid facilities.

During August, 47 deaths of patients on the books were recorded. Of the number, 36 died at the inpatient facilities.

Attend leadership workshop

Miguel E. Garcia and Steve Ortiz, both of Granite City, Ill., Romero of Alton and Tony Gonzales of Wood River participated in a leadership development workshop conducted by the Illinois Commission on Human Relations (ICHR).

The statewide workshop was held in Peoria during the weekend and was attended by 200 leaders of community groups and social service agencies from 28 cities in Illinois.

Connie Seals, executive director of ICHR, gave the keynote address, outlining ICHR's mandate for service to the people of the state and the commission's priorities, thereby helping to establish some guidelines by which community groups could reassess their own priorities.

Along with Mrs. Seals, Jim Peeples, deputy director of Human Resources in Peoria, welcomed the participants. Rosie Simpson, director of the Organizational Development Department of ICHR gave the workshop introduction and Marion Henley, program manager for ICHR gave the closing remarks.

By bringing together such a large group of leaders, ICHR made possible a large-scale exchange of ideas, knowledge and experience. As a result of this exchange as well as the leadership training involved, a committee of United Latinos of Illinois was formed.

The committee has made tentative plans to meet Dec. 21 in Springfield to set a future date and establish a program for leadership training of all the Latinos in Illinois.

Future Secretaries hear panel

Harry Thebeau of State Farm Insurance, Larry Siderer of Siderer Supply Co. and Jim Doyle of Roy Wenzlick Research Corp., St. Louis, were guest panelists at a meeting of the Future Secretaries Association held at Granite City High School North.

Dorothy Miller, vice-president, served as moderator and presented several questions for discussions.

Topics explored, were varied. They included whether bosses would consider hiring high school girls without experience; the quantity of dictating in office work; salaries available to beginners and dress styles preferred in a business office.

Panel members agreed they would hire someone with ability in preference to a girl without a capable background. They are most impressed by a person with a sense of responsibility, mechanical ability, able to take and delegate responsibility, congenial and who makes a good first impression when applying for the job, it was agreed.

During the business session, presided over by FSA President Sheryl Patton, reports were given by Bonnie Ross, Jo Elaine Foster, Belinda McGee, Vicki Nance, Tammy Monroe and Melissa King.

Tammy Monroe was elected board member at large.

National Secretaries Association members present were Sally Gracey, Adrienne Warchol, Gail Foley, Joyce Savich, Charlene Vancovic and faculty advisor, Judi Sparks.

Public aid legislation sought

State Public Aid Director James L. Trainor on Monday requested that the General Assembly enact new legislation to permit payment of five per cent increases in the General Assistance and Aid to the Aged, Blind and Disabled programs. The new legislation would increase appropriations for those categories by $3.3 million. Trainor said that with the new legislation, the Department of Public Aid would be able to pay increases totaling $8.04 per month to recipients in the GA and AABD programs, retroactive to Oct. 1. As originally passed, the department's appropriation did not provide sufficient funding to pay five per cent increases in those programs. The Department did grant increases of $1.16 per month for the GA and AABD programs starting Oct. 1.

Trainor said the department currently estimates it will need $130 million in additional appropriations before the end of fiscal 1975, with caseload projections based on current levels and with a five per cent increase going to all recipients.

A ten per cent increase, along with such unknown factors as increased unemployment, continued escalation in Medicaid costs and federal withholding of funds because of ineffectiveness—would push the additional figure much higher, Trainor said.

No new legislation is needed to continue paying the five per cent increase to recipients in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

Trainor said a ten per cent increase in benefits for all welfare programs would require an additional appropriation of $34.5 million at current caseload levels.

The required amount would actually be even higher, since the caseload levels would increase above current levels. Eligibility for grants is related to the grant level; thus, increasing the grant level would increase the caseload.

Welfare spending could climb current estimates depending on five factors, Trainor said. They are:

1. The impact of increased unemployment on public aid rolls.
2. Any decision to grant benefit increases exceeding five per cent, which would also increase the caseload.

3. The actions of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in enforcing penalties with respect to eligibility.

4. The outcome of a federal court case in which the state is seeking to have U.S. Department of Agriculture cutbacks in the food stamp program declared illegal; and

5. Continued escalation in medical costs which are reflected in Medicaid costs.

Optimism voiced on economic prospects

Optimism about future economic development was voiced by Richard H. Dykes, executive director of the Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation, at a planning conference in St. Louis during the weekend.

Pointing to current pessimism on many fronts, Dykes said he takes an opposing viewpoint.

"Economic development by nature means change. Development has never been a static business."

"We are now experiencing and have always experienced change. The only thing which actually varies is the nature of this change."

"Business is not going to die. There will be an increasing demand for new homes and commercial operations, and industry will continue to experience a demand for new facilities and for expanding the production capabilities of existing operations."

Dykes spoke on a panel during a Mid West Mid-Decade conference sponsored by the Illinois and Missouri chapters of the American Institute of Planners, held at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn.

Illinois Metro East is a non-profit area development corporation devoted to this region's industrial and business growth. The executive director said

GC Steel air pollution control plans advanced

A status report on air pollution abatement actions under way at Granite City Steel's basic oxygen furnace plant was presented to the Granite City Air Pollution Control board during its regular meeting, Henry Bielecki, president of the board, reported to the City Council Monday night.

Bielecki said progress on the steel firm's pollution control activities was presented by Dr. John Manda, manager of the company's environmental control department.

The actions, Bielecki told the aldermen, were undertaken as part of an agreement between the company and the local air board which settled a formal complaint action against the company and an injunction suit against the board.

Bielecki said Dr. Manda's presentation covered these points:

Steam injection for the electrostatic precipitator—The final drawings for this system are complete and have been approved by the company's engineering department. Action is underway to obtain an appropriation for construction and to obtain a permit from the state EPA. The steam injection system is designed to increase the moisture content of the gases passing into the electrostatic precipitator at the beginning and end of each heat. This will improve the efficiency of dust collection and is expected to eliminate the heavy emissions frequently observed for one or two minutes at the beginning or end of a heat.

A nose pollution complaint from a resident in the East Granite area against Lipsett Steel was referred to the board office. Arrangements were made for a detailed analysis by the state EPA. The results obtained for the brief monitoring period did not disclose a violation of state regulations, Bielecki said.

Oxygen Lance Seal Engineering drawings are 90 per cent complete. The design provides for water cooled doors to be deployed around the oxygen lance to seal the 5 foot by 3 foot rectangular opening in the furnace hood. This system modification is expected to appreciably reduce emissions that have been observed coming from the ventilators at the top of the BOF building.

Ladle Additive Chute Seal—Engineering drawings are 90 per cent complete. This design provides for a fixed chute incorporating a butterfly type valve to seal off emissions during oxygen lancing. The modification is expected to also appreciably reduce emissions from the ventilators at the top of the BOF building.

Dr. Manda reported that the new coke oven charging car is still in the shakedown process. He expressed continued confidence in the design of the car.

He also reported that negotiations between the company and the state EPA are still under way on the type of system to be installed to control emissions during coke pushing operations. The EPA preference is for a shed enclosure and the company prefers a portable system.

Chemical analyses have been received from the state EPA laboratories on the dust fall-out that has been periodically reported by residents in the vicinity of 21st Street, Monroe, and East 23rd. The reports relate the dust samples to sintering plant and other ferrous process operations. Additional effort will be required to correlate the dust fall-out with potential emission sources in the vicinity.

The results obtained for the brief monitoring period did not disclose a violation of state regulations, Bielecki said.

The Messiah will be sung in entirety

Belleville Area College's new 65-voice Community Chorus, soloists and orchestra will present Handel's oratorio The Messiah in its entirety on Sunday, Dec. 1, at St. Theresa's Catholic Church in Belleville. While excerpts from The Messiah are performed annually by many choirs, rarely is the complete work programmed, a spokesman noted. To alleviate the strain of continuous sitting, a two-hour intermission is scheduled during the dinner hour. Part I will be presented at 5 p.m., and Parts II and III will resume at 8 p.m.

Professional soloists for this performance are Beverly Coyne, soprano; Joanna Cruickshank, alto; Richard Evans, tenor; and Paul Matrey, bass. Accompanying the singers is a 24-piece Baroque orchestra, which will play from Handel's original notation.

Featured players are Fern Hieb, harpsichord; Ron Perry, continuo cello; and Randy Chapman, concertmaster. The concert will be conducted by A. Dennis Sparger, director of choral activities at BAC.

A capacity audience is anticipated at the 1,200-seat sanctuary. Tickets may be obtained in advance from the choristers or through Sparger at BAC; checks are to be payable to the BAC Community Chorus. Tickets may also be purchased at the door; admission is $2.

Spicy report — All you've wanted to know about Mom's pumpkin pie

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser - Home Economics -
Spicy pumpkin pie seems to belong to chilly days and hearty appetites.

Although it's tasty served "as is" or topped with whipped cream, next time you bake pumpkin pie try a little imagination and ingenuity in the use of spices and other seasonings.

Here are some suggestions for a change in texture as well as flavor:

Add slivered or finely-chopped candied ginger to the filling instead of ground ginger. It gives a flavor that is elusive and delicious.

Sprinkle the pie with grated Cheddar cheese when you take it from the oven.

Steam raisins until they are moist and puffy; then sprinkle them on the crust before you add the filling. Chopped dates may be used instead of raisins. Flavor the whipped cream topping with a bit of maple syrup or honey. Add the syrup or honey near the end of the whipping period, and add it with a light hand.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Blend a generous portion of finely chopped or ground black walnuts with the crust ingredients. The black walnuts add a flavor and an aroma that are subtle and delightful.

Sprinkle the baked pie, while still warm, with grated orange rind. The orange flavor seems to be a perfect teammate for the bland pumpkin.

With each piece of pie, serve a small portion of cream cheese to which you've added a dash of lemon juice. It will be a welcome flavor change from the usual whipped cream.

Mrs. Koerper reviews book

Mrs. Peggy Koerper reviewed the book, "In Darkness," by Roger Bourgeois, at a meeting last week of the Junior Bay View Reading Club.

The story relates the problems in a young man's life as he struggles to live a normal life after being blinded in an accident.

Mrs. Marguerite Lexow, 720 Old Alton Road, entertained the group in her home.

President Mrs. Alice Hunsinger conducted the meeting and roll call was answered by the members with hints for Christmas.

Mrs. Hunsinger invited the members to her home on Dec. 11 for the club's annual yuletide party. Mrs. Ann Little will co-host the event.

Also attending were Mrs. Helen Matson, Mrs. Ann Little, Mrs. Sharon Loftus and Mrs. Marge O'Neill.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

George Turner, 54, of 2126 Washington Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a contusion near his right eye and abrasions to his forehead and nose suffered in an auto accident last week.
